

Thousands killed, missing in hurricane

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi killed 2,800 persons in Honduras alone on its devastating path through five Central American countries, and thousands more are missing, authorities said Saturday.

The death toll rose Saturday as police dug bodies out of the thick mud and debris. The storm, propelled by 130 mile an hour winds, cut a path of devastation through Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala and Belize.

An official spokesman for the Honduran National Emergency Committee said "we calculate between 7,000 and 8,000 missing persons, with between 40 and 50 per cent of them dead."

"We are almost sure of at least 1,500 dead in the village of Choloma alone. Only the people on high ground were saved. The whole town was asleep before dawn Thursday when the river came crashing down on them, carrying mud, trees, rocks and debris. Nobody had time to run.

"We've been digging bodies out of the mud and debris, many of them naked or still in their night clothes. There are a lot of small towns and villages in the same area that may have been totally destroyed. We have no sure reports."

Javier Pantoja of the Honduran Red Cross said his office received an unconfirmed report of some "1,000 dead bodies floating at the mouth of the Motagua river."

The Motagua flows through Guatemala, but in its last 10 miles forms the border between Guatemala and Honduras, approximately 20 miles west of Choloma and San Pedro Sula.

In Guatemala City, the Guatemalan Red Cross said it was unaware of any Guatemalans killed by the hurricane.

The U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa said it was trying to locate about 70 Peace Corps volunteers working in northeastern Honduras.

In Nicaragua, the town of Wiwili on the Coco border river with Honduras was reported wiped out, and many of its 500 residents were reported clinging to tree tops to stay above fast-rising flood waters. A mercy plane from the U.S. Southern Defense Command in the Panama Canal Zone had to turn around when it could not reach the area due to continuing bad weather.

A Nicaraguan Air Force C47 cargo plane was missing since 7 a.m. after flying into the storm zone.

Other American relief planes were ready for take-off to Honduran disaster areas Saturday morning with emergency supplies including medicines and portable water purifying systems.

A radio report from Wiwili said 50 people were killed and three other persons died under falling trees and crumbling homes elsewhere in Nicaragua. Some 5,000 persons were reported homeless in the country.

In El Salvador, authorities reported 20 people dead from collapsing houses, 20 others missing and at least 500 others missing.

Medical costs lead rocketing inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced amid a barrage of criticism from the medical profession Friday that doctors' fees and the cost of hospital rooms skyrocketed last month.

The average price of a semiprivate hospital room was climbing at an annual rate of $30 a day, the announcement said.

"Quite frankly, we are scared," said Dr. Stuart Altman of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in laying out dramatic new health inflation figures at a mini-summit economic meeting of major medical organizations.

HE SAID the increase in medical costs could result in a 30 per cent hike in medical insurance premiums.

Consumer prices overall shot up 1.3 per cent in August—a month when prices normally fall—and the real spending power

L.B. hospital readied Nixon to enter Memorial

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Former President Richard Nixon will enter Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach Monday for treatment of phlebitis in his left leg, it was learned Friday.

Donald C. Carner, executive vice president of the 680-bed hospital, confirmed that Nixon would be admitted for treatment. It was not learned how or when he would arrive, but the hospital has a helipad, and it's possible Nixon might travel by helicopter from San Clemente.

Nixon's personal physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, an internal medicine specialist, will conduct a news conference Monday, a hospital spokesman said.

Nixon will be hospitalized in the west wing of the medical center's sixth floor, according to Karen Krantz of the center's public relations department. This is a section of private rooms opened last June.

Lungren and Nixon's former White House physician, Air Force Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach, have wanted to hospitalize the former president since last Friday when an examination showed a second blood clot in the left leg.

Tkach told a newsman earlier that he feared one of the clots might break loose and lodge in Nixon's heart or lungs, killing him.

A lodged clot in the pulmonary artery can cause sudden death.

Up to now Nixon has been resisting hospitalization.

It was not immediately known if his wife, Pat, or any family members would stay with him.

In resisting his doctors' efforts to hospitalize him, Nixon reportedly had said, "If I go into the hospital, I'll never come out alive."

Tkach was quoted in a magazine last week as saying the phlebitis condition had worsened and "it's going to take a miracle for him to recover."

Both Tkach and Lungren plan a treatment with anticoagulant drugs to dissolve the clots. Such treatment must begin intravenously and then can be taken orally.

Secret Service agents were said to have been arranging security for the hospital stay.

Nixon stayed in Memorial once before, having a physical examination there in 1968 when he was president-elect.

"He'll just be another patient," was the attitude of nurses who showed newsmen a small private room similar to the one in which Nixon is to stay. It was just large enough for a bed, a pair of chairs and a built-in television and had a private bathroom.

The large windows look out over the parking lot and, a truck dealership.

The floor nursing manager, Grace Hollenbeck, said security arrangements had yet to be completed.

"We'll close off as much of the wing as necessary," she said.

Jaworski wants examination of Nixon

By ANTHONY RIPLEY
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski suggested Friday that the United States District Court send a team of physicians to San Clemente to determine how ill former President Nixon might be.

He made the suggestion to Judge John Sirica in opposing a defense motion asking a delay for two or three months of the Watergate cover-up conspiracy trial now scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Sirica took no action on the suggestion.

The health issue had been raised in a motion to delay filed by John Ehrlichman, former assistant to the president for domestic affairs. Ehrlichman argued that Nixon might be too ill to appear as a defense witness and should be given time to recover.

Sirica did not deal with Jaworski's suggestion for an examination of the ex-president and instead merely turned down the motion for a delay without comment.

An aide to the judge said of the question of Nixon's health still remains to be considered. A pretrial conference is scheduled for Tuesday, at which time

U.S., Russ trade agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration and the Soviet Union have reached agreement on a program allowing trade concessions to Russia in exchange for a liberalized emigration system for Soviet Jews, U.S. officials said Friday.

However, implementation of the understanding is being held up because of a disagreement over technicalities between President Ford and Congress.

Ford scheduled a second meeting at noon today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to continue their discussions.

Word of the tentative accord came as a White House spokesman said Ford looks forward to a 1975 summit meeting in Washington with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

A summit invitation had been accepted by Brezhnev after it was extended by former President Nixon during Nixon's Soviet trip in June.

At a news briefing after Ford met for 2½ hours with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, deputy White House press secretary John Hushen told reporters:

"The invitation is still on and Mr. Ford looks forward to Mr. Brezhnev's visit here in 1975."

Hushen said Ford's meeting with Gromyko was "cordial in tone" and covered a range of matters including bilateral relations, strategic arms limitation talks, the Middle East, the European security conference and European force reduction talks.

The remaining disagreement over trade concessions to the Soviets involves Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., leader of Senate forces blocking passage of the administration's trade bill because of restrictive Moscow policies affecting Jews seeking to leave the Soviet Union.

The Ford-Jackson problem centers on enforcement of the agreement with Moscow, sources said. The Washington senator wants a tightly supervised system in which the trade concessions allowed Moscow could be canceled on short notice if it is decided that the Russians have reneged.

While full details are unavailable, the Russians have agreed to allow up to 60,000 Jews to leave each year.

End to Cuba embargo assured

By JUAN J. WALT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Haiti joined 13 other Western Hemisphere nations Friday in supporting removal of diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba — virtually assuring that the embargo against the Fidel Castro government will end in November.

Haiti's ambassador to the Organization of American States, Gerard Bouchette, told the OAS Council his government would not object to ending the embargo imposed on the Castro regime in 1964.

Haiti became the 14th OAS member which has now, in one way or another, indicated it favors ending the sanctions. The Ford administration, which earlier Friday agreed to the review of the Cuban embargo, has not yet committed its vote.

Fourteen votes represent two-thirds of the 21 OAS members which have ratified the Inter-American Treaty for Mutual Assistance (Rio Treaty), under which the sanctions were imposed and have to be lifted. The other two OAS members — Jamaica and Barbados — have not yet ratified the Rio Treaty, although both have full relations with the Havana government.

Bouchette told the council his government wished "to contribute to the peace and harmony that must exist among the nations of the Americas by not objecting to the lifting of the sanctions."

Argentina's OAS ambassador, Raul Quijano, told newsmen: "This was the 14th vote we all had been waiting for."

The question of whether to lift the Cuban sanctions will be the only topic at a Nov. 8 meeting of OAS foreign ministers in Quito, Ecuador. The two-day council meeting in Washington, which started Thursday, was the first step in that direction.

Colombia, Costa Rica and Venezuela proposed that the sanctions be lifted, ending the last major cold war policies in the Western Hemisphere, in light of the detente established between the United States and the big Communist powers.

But two Latin American nations opposed to lifting the Cuban sanctions — Uruguay and Paraguay — charged during the council session that the Castro regime continued to interfere in their internal affairs.

"There does seem to be a consensus that the OAS might properly now begin the process of review of the measures," Ambassador William S. Mailiard, representing the U.S., said.

'Young' quake faults revealed in Southland

By GIL BAILEY
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — A new U.S. Geological Survey shows numerous "youthful" earthquake faults — the faults most likely to produce earthquakes — running through densely populated parts of Santa Barbara, Ventura and central Los Angeles counties.

The survey is releasing a two-sheet map showing what is known about the most recent earth movements in a 19,000-square-mile area between Point Arguello and the Mexican border. An estimated 2,000 faults are shown on the map and they are rated from one to eight on the basis of the last earth movement.

J.I. Ziony, geologist at the Survey's National Center in Reston, Va., said the map should be valuable for regional land-use planning.

"The map will permit the identification and investigation of faults that may be significant to engineering development because of their potential for movement. Information about recency of faulting is useful in designating some faults as active for specific land uses."

He added, "Faults may be designated as active on the assumption that the more recently a fault has moved, the more likely it will undergo renewed movement in the future."

The map shows the most "youthful of faults" — such as the San Fernando Fault that broke the ground surface in 1971, destroying two hospitals, 12 freeway overpasses and, numerous other structures, killing scores of people.

Ziony pointed out that the west-trending faults, such as the San Fernando, "lace through" cities in Santa Barbara, Ventura and central Los Angeles counties. Northwest-trending faults with relatively recent offsets — including the Whittier-Elsinore and Newport-Inglewood fault zones — extend through urbanized sections of Southern Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Diego counties, he said.

Other youthful faults are present in the Santa Barbara Channel and in the offshore region between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Copies of the map may be purchased in the Los Angeles Federal Building, 300 N. Los Angeles St.

No cuts in aid to poor vowed

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — Caspar Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, said Friday there will be no across-the-board federal budget cuts that would make the poor suffer more amid inflation. "This administration will not base its anti-inflationary efforts on increasing the burdens of our less advantaged citizens," he told newsmen at the end of a two-day economic summit conference focusing on the young, old, sick and poor. "Our effort will be to deliver more benefits at less cost to those who are most in need," Weinberger said. The conference reached virtually unanimous agreement that HEW spending should be increased rather than reduced during periods of inflation.

Weinberger said more HEW money could be made available, without budget cuts or higher taxes, by eliminating outmoded social welfare programs and making others more efficient.

Policewoman slain

WASHINGTON — A young Washington policewoman was shot and killed Friday while trying to capture a shotgun-wielding man who was fleeing from two male officers. An FBI spokesman said Gail Cobb, 24, was the first policewoman killed in the line of duty anywhere in the country since the agency began keeping statistics on such incidents in 1960, but that it was not known whether any had been killed before then. Police said the incident began when the two male officers approached a car parked across the street from a downtown bank. They said a man in the car pulled a shotgun from under a towel on his lap, then fled through an alley. Miss Cobb took up the chase at the other end of the alley and was shot in the chest and ribs.

Milk price hike seen

WASHINGTON — Retail milk prices could jump as much as two cents a quart under a proposal announced Friday to boost milk prices paid farmers, government experts say. The Agriculture Department said it will consider raising minimum prices paid farmers for Class I milk — the kind in retail store bottles — by as much as 13 per cent. If this is passed on fully to consumers, the store price of milk could rise above the record marks set last spring. Milk prices have been declining all summer. Meantime, farmers contend their costs have soared. The Bureau of Labor Statistics calculates the national average retail price of milk in August at 77.5 cents per half gallon. That was down nearly three cents from the record of 80.4 cents last May.

Indian 'war' peaceful

BONNERS FERRY, IDAHO — The tiny Kootenai Indian tribe, faced with a massive force of law enforcement officers, reduced its "war" against the United States to an informational picket line Friday, collecting voluntary 10-cent tolls from motorists entering its historic lands. The 67-member tribe backed down from its "war" plans after some 100 police and deputies gathered in Bonners Ferry, a town of 1,700 near the Canadian border. The tribe, which has demanded a settlement to its 120-year-old claim for 1.6 million acres of tribal lands taken by the government, carried signs reading "Entering Indian Kootenai Nation — toll 10 cents," along the sides of four highways entering the disputed area in northern Idaho and north-west Montana. About one-quarter of the passing cars stopped and dropped their 10-cent donations in tin cups offered by the Indians. The Kootenais have offered to settle their claim in return for a 128,000-acre reservation and $2.8 million. The government has offered them 12.5 acres.

Gasoline price wars?

WASHINGTON — Supplies of gasoline have improved so much that price wars have broken out in scattered parts of the country. But winter coal supplies are precarious. Federal Energy Administrator John Sawhill reported Friday. The Consumer Price Index issued Friday showed gasoline prices — on a steady rise since the fuel crisis and the Arab embargo last year — dropped in August to an average 55.4 cents for a gallon of regular fuel and 59.1 for premium. That represented a drop of eight-tenths of 1 per cent for regular and six-tenths for premium fuel. The Bureau of Labor Statistics report said prices for motor oil also declined in August, but that the cost of electricity and coal went up.

Sailor Navy said wasn't sick dies

Combined News Services

Almost a year after Navy doctors first told Timothy Nunley his illness was imaginary, the 19-year-old sailor died Friday of cancer.

"He fought very hard and knew everything that was going on up until the last hour," said Mrs. Robert Nunley after her son's death in Jacksonville, Fla.

She said Nunley never felt any bitterness toward the Navy, even though it admitted that doctors at three bases failed to detect the cancer in time to operate.

"But I am bitter at the bureaucratic system," Mrs. Nunley said.

Nunley and his parents filed lawsuits seeking $6.5 million from the government because of failure to diagnose his illness in time.

In April, the Navy issued a statement admitting its doctors failed to diagnose Nunley's condition and saying that "appropriate disciplinary and corrective action has been taken."

Nunley enlisted in the Navy last September. After passing a physical, he was sent to boot camp in Orlando, Fla., where he first reported sick. Nunley later went on sick call at bases at Mayport, Fla., and Great Lakes, Ill.

At that time, Mrs. Nunley said, her son had lost 40 pounds, had a three-inch mass sticking out of his abdomen, his vision was blurred and he couldn't eat.

New York City police officers struggle to restrain John Rowan, 27, on cables of Brooklyn Bridge Friday. Traffic was disrupted for more than an hour as onlookers watched Rowan climb up cables on Brooklyn side of bridge and across other lines to Manhattan side and up to tower, about 190 feet above East River. After his descent, Rowan was charged with reckless endangerment and disorderly conduct.

A Syracuse woman, describing herself as a "free-lance feminist," Friday filed her 763rd sex discrimination complaint with the New York state division of Human Rights.

Stephanie Carey, in her latest complaint, claimed that her 6-year-old son, Stephan, was the victim of unfair discrimination. She said the all-female Syracuse school of gymnastics refused to admit her child because he was a boy.

The mother claims that, at the age of 6, "There's no difference between boys and girls."

Ambassador

Shirley Temple Black, the retired movie actress, was sworn in Friday in Washington as the U.S. ambassador to Ghana, the first African black state to win independence.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who presided at the ceremony, kissed her on the cheek twice and quipped: "For years I've been trying to figure out how to get movie stars to come to you when you want them. Now that I know how, I'm married."

Huntley

Chet Huntley, the former television newsmen who died of cancer in March, left an estate valued at more than $2 million, according to documents filed Friday in Montana district court in Bozeman.

The bulk of the estate consisted of life insurance and deferred salary payments from NBC. The inventory was filed by his widow, Tipton, administratrix of the estate.

The accounting listed $2,063,000 as deferred payments from NBC and life insurance policies. Other major items included stocks and bonds valued at $53,000, miscellaneous assets of $758,000 and $128,000 in property owned jointly by Mrs. Huntley. The couple's home at the Big Sky of Montana resort was listed at $165,000.

Solzhenitsyn

Alexander Solzhenitsyn, exiled Russian winner of the Nobel Prize for literature, has bitterly attacked another Soviet exile who has been one of his staunchest supporters.

In a letter to Oslo's leading newspaper, Aftenposten, he charged that Zhores Medvedev "always knows what the Soviet government wants to hear and he says it on better authority and more wisely than the propaganda apparatus of the Central Committee is able to."

Medvedev, a renowned biologist, was stripped of his citizenship while on a research project in London after he had published a book telling of Soviet abuse of Solzhenitsyn.

Portugal frees Mozambique

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique — Portugal ended its rule in Mozambique Friday and a black nationalist-dominated government assumed power in a quiet, simple ceremony at the former colonial state house. Rear Adm. Victor Crespo, Portugal's high commissioner for the territory, presided at the installation of the Prime Minister Joaquim Chissano, a former guerrilla leader. Chissano, 38, a onetime medical student in Lisbon who quit studies to join the insurgency movement against Portugal, promised a policy of noninterference in the internal affairs of neighbors, including South Africa. The new government comes to power at a time when the former colony's economy is in urgent need of a stable political climate after five months of incessant strikes and when racial tension still is simmering in the wake of the first bloody clashes sparked by an abortive attempt by white settlers to seize power Sept. 7, in which 32 persons are known dead.

Energy-sharing plan

BRUSSELS — Oil experts from 12 industrial nations, including the U.S., Friday worked out a package deal requiring their countries to share and conserve energy if there is another oil crisis. The agreement must now go back to the 12 capitals for final approval. If approval is reached, the 12 hope to have the agreement in operation by mid-November, their chairman, Belgium's Viscount Etienne Davignon, told reporters. The experts came from the U.S., Canada, Japan, Norway and all nine European Common Market nations except France. They met in the Energy Coordination Group set up eight months ago by the Washington oil conference in the wake of last winter's crisis and disunity, to arrange cooperation and coordinat

Canada ups gas price

OTTAWA — The price of natural gas exported to the U.S. will be increased by an average 66 per cent to $1 per thousand cubic feet, Energy Minister Donald Macdonald announced Friday. He said the price increase will go into effect Nov. 1 in parts of British Columbia and Jan. 1 nationwide. Prices now range between 38 and 71 cents, with the average about 60 cents. The increase will put Canadian gas in a more equitable relationship with other energy sources in the U.S. and will encourage petroleum companies to find more gas reserves and restrain "wasteful uses" of natural gas.

'Collaborator' to die

MOSCOW — A military court has sentenced to death by firing squad a Russian who returned to the Soviet Union on a Canadian passport the government newspaper Izvestia said Friday night. The court found him guilty of war crimes. The newspaper said Georgi Tsinaridze, who held a Canadian passport under the name of David Geldiasvili, had participated in the deaths of more than 3,000 persons in southern Russia when he was a member of a Gestapo squad in the city of Simferopol. More than 40 witnesses testified and 19 volumes of evidence were presented at the two-week trial. Among the witnesses were Tsinaridze's wife and two children who identified him.

Peronist rally

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — To chants of "Isabel, Isabel" and "Peron is present," late President Juan Peron's widow made a dramatic balcony appearance before 50,000 workers Friday to rally support against a terrorist threat to her government. Using a tactic developed by Peron in the 1940s and 1950s, Mrs. Peron and the Peronist-led General Workers Confederation ordered an eight-hour work stoppage and mass concentration in the historic Plaza de Mayo to celebrate the signing of a new labor law. Security measures around the rally were tight. Schools and government offices also closed in other cities through the country to celebrate the new law that strengthens worker security, expands vacation periods, protects women and young workers and improves sickness and indemnity benefits. But as she spoke police reported another killing, the 12th in six days. More than 100 bombs have been set off in the past week in violence attributed both to left and rightist radicals.

Oil prices defended

CARACAS — Venezuela, chief foreign supplier of oil to the U.S., Friday took an unprecedented swipe at the U.S. in denying President Ford's charge that oil-producing nations were using their raw material as a political weapon. President Carlos Andres Perez fired off a cable to Ford accusing the U.S. and other developed countries of keeping "more than half of humanity in a precarious economic state and growing poverty" for years because of the low prices paid for raw materials. Perez's angry cable was triggered by Ford's speech to the United Nations General Assembly Wednesday, in which he implied that the 12-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries was using oil as a political weapon by quadrupling prices in the past year.

Moscow OKs art show

MOSCOW — City authorities agreed Friday to allow a group of abstract artists to hold an open-air exhibition in a Moscow park, one of the painters said Friday. The decision came less than a week after vigilantes backed by bulldozers and water trucks broke up an attempt to hold such an exhibition on a suburban patch of wasteland last Sunday. Artist Nadezhda Elskaya, 28, said twelve of the artists were invited to the Moscow soviet Friday and a deputy mayor, N. G. Sychev, gave them permission to use the park.

Ex-lecturer faces deportation in killings

Mediator meets 2nd day in RTD conflict

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Former Long Beach State University lecturer Jalal Bayati, who was found guilty last May of voluntary manslaughter in the 1973 stabbing deaths of his estranged fiancée and a friend, was ordered to County Jail Friday pending his deportation to his native Iraq.

The erstwhile economics instructor was also given a suspended prison sentence and placed on probation for eight years. Long Beach Superior Court Judge Ernest Kelly ordered the same penalty on the second count of manslaughter, but ruled that the penalties were to run concurrently.

In remanding Bayati to County Jail for a year, Kelly did so on the understanding that Bayati would be deported as soon as U.S. immigration officials could work out the details — a condition that Bayati's attorney assured the judge his client had accepted. Thus Bayati needn't spend the year in jail.

In effect, he'll become a free man as soon as he boards an airplane for Iraq, since he won't have to report to a probation officer once he leaves the country.

Kelly, in pronouncing sentence, took account of Bayati's cultural differences (Iraqians take a more possessive attitude toward their women than Americans) and said that the slightly built educator was not a criminal in the usual sense.

"This is one of the sad cases of our life," he declared.

But Deputy Dist. Atty. Denis Petty, who prosecuted the case, expressed quiet outrage at the sentence.

Outside the courtroom,

Petty declared that the ruling, in effect, gave any foreigner a license to come to this country and kill someone merely at the price of being returned to his own country for the crime.

"Some acts of violence are so gross that they merit stiff sentences," he declared. At the trial, Petty had urged the court to find the defendant guilty of second degree murder, which carries a greater weight of culpability than voluntary manslaughter.

But Kelly, at the conclusion of the trial, ruled that while psychiatric evidence indicated that Bayati was sane when he killed Elizabeth Ann Jonson and Stephen Arena, it was also apparent that Bayati had "a complete breakdown" at the time.

Friday, Petty argued briefly that the death of Arena, 30, had different coloration to it because Arena was not romantically linked with the girl, but had merely been asked to protect her against Bayati's wrath. Arena, in fact, had been engaged to someone else at the time, the prosecutor said.

Petty also argued that the court had carried the psychiatric analysis of the defendant to excessive lengths.

Kelly, partly on the basis of psychiatrists' testimony, had ruled Bayati "sane within the limits of diminished capacity."

Evidence in the trial brought out that Bayati had killed the 28-year-old Miss Jonson, in his own apartment, then walked across the street to her apartment and killed Arena. Both were stabbed numerous times.

A special mediator went into the second day of round-the-clock meetings Friday with the Rapid Transit District and striking bus drivers in the city's 41-day-old bus strike.

Adolph Koven, the $500-per-day mediator named by Mayor Thomas Bradley, met with both sides from Thursday afternoon until early Friday and resumed another round of talks Friday afternoon.

Earlier in the day, Koven met with members of the State Conciliation Service.

The City Council earlier in the week appropriated $10,000 to pay the salary of the 57-year-old San Francisco mediator.

The RTD strike affects about 4 per cent of an approximate 10 million population in a four county area.

INFLATION HAS MADE PAY DAY REPLACE MAY DAY AS A DISTRESS SIGNAL

I saw a fantastic train pass Anaheim Stadium Sunday, Sept. 8. It was called the Preamble Express and was painted red, white and blue. Can you find out anything about this train? Mrs. P.L., Cerritos.

The Preamble Express, four passenger cars and a diesel engine, is an advance train preparing the way for the new American Freedom Train which will cross the country from April 1975 to December 1976 in honor of the nation's 200th birthday, according to James Drennan, a manager of the nonprofit American Freedom Train Foundation in New Jersey. As was its predecessor in 1947, this new Freedom Train will be a museum carrying documents, exhibits and memorabilia important to the history of the United States. It will have 24 cars pulled by a steam locomotive. Starting in Boston, the train will visit about 76 cities in 48 states and is due in Los Angeles around Dec. 8, 1975, for a month's stay. This Freedom Train was conceived by millionaire railroad buff Ross E. Rowland and the initial financing for it has come from five large corporations, General Motors, Arco, Prudential, Pepsi-Cola and Kraft. Additional funds will come from admission tickets. The Preamble Express, Drennan said, is checking out the route, and meeting with city officials and working out plans for the bigger train. "There is nothing on it now of interest to the public," he said. The original Freedom Train was part of the educational program of the American Heritage Foundation.

Key unlocked no money

In April, I decided to sell my mobile home and move in with my daughter. Gold Key Mobile Homes, 12341 E. Carson St., Hawaiian Gardens, agreed to take my coach on consignment and according to the contract, the company would pay me $3,500 if my mobile home wasn't sold by June 15. The coach hasn't been sold yet, but it has been moved off the Gold Key lot. I still have the pink slip, but I haven't been able to get my money. I just keep getting the run-around. T.B., Norwalk.

ACTION LINE pursued your case for more than two months and we, too, got nothing but the run-around. We tried calling the company's co-owners, Michael Carta and Kenneth Keenan, dozens of times, but most of our calls weren't returned. The few times we did make contact, we got conflicting information and vague promises that the money would be paid. But apparently Carta and Keenan have now dissolved their partnership and the Gold Key office has been taken over by Fry Trailer Sales. No one there could tell us the current whereabouts of Carta and Keenan. However, you have located your coach at a mobile home park in Rialto and you have informed us that you have signed a new consignment agreement with the park's owner.

Matter over mind

According to the insurance brochure for my group plan at work, I am covered for psychiatric care by Blue Shield. After several sessions with my psychologist, I submitted a claim to Blue Shield. They refused to pay because they said my doctor is a Ph.D., not a medical doctor. Can ACTION LINE help me? P.P., Long Beach.

No. Blue Shield's contracts authorize payment for psychological services only by psychiatrists, all of whom are medical doctors. The company does not pay for treatment by clinical psychologists. A spokesman for Blue Shield in Los Angeles, Mike Hinton, acknowledged that this isn't made too clear in the brochures which brief the services your group plan offers. It merely explains the amount the plan pays for "Psychiatric Care" for in-and-out-patients but doesn't point out that treatment by psychologists isn't included. The Blue Shield spokesman noted they "are thinking about rewriting the brochure to make it clearer."

Smoke with Smokey

I read a story in the I.P.T. that mentioned a company in Washington, D.C. that makes Smokey Bear matches. Please let me know how I can buy some. J.M., Long Beach.

You can order them by the case from the American Forestry Association, 1319 18th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. A case of 2,500 match books sells for $30 and you can pay by check in advance or ask to be billed, said Linda Hatfield of the association. The matches have the venerable Smokey on the cover and your name or advertising message on the back. The association, she said, is a nonprofit organization made up of persons interested in forestry and conservation and profits from the match book sales are used for their fire prevention projects.

Foreign cars lead gas economy tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Datsun B-210 came out on top in the government's new list of miles-per-gallon figures for 1975 model cars published Friday, while a pack of American-made station wagons and big-engine cars finished last.

The Datsun model got 39 miles per gallon on the highway and 27 in the city in the Environmental Protection Agency tests. No domestic-made car finished in the top 10 in either category, although several Detroit products turned up in the second 10.

The worst gasoline mileage figure recorded — nine miles per gallon — came from city-driving tests of a Ford station wagon and a Lincoln Mercury station wagon, both with 400 cubic-inch engines.

The EPA, which conducted the tests in cooperation with the Federal Energy Administration, said the results represented estimates, not guarantees, of fuel economy which will vary with the condition of the car and individual driving habits. Some models — notably the Honda Civic, which had a high fuel economy rating last year, and the rotary engine Mazda which fared poorly — have not been rated because they have not yet passed exhaust pollution control tests for the new models, the EPA said.

ADMINISTRATOR Russell E. Train said the average improvement in fuel economy for 1975 model cars compared to 1974 models should be 13.5 per cent due to new pollution control equipment which allows better engine performance.

But he expressed "substantial concern" over projected sales figures from Detroit which indicate the automakers plan to sell more bigger cars now that the gasoline crunch has eased.

"The very pronounced shift toward smaller cars during the fuel scare last winter has somewhat turned around, and I think we've got to be concerned about that," Train told a news conference. "We have to be far less wasteful and consumptive in the way we use our automobiles."

EPA figures showed American Motors cars with the highest over-all average miles per gallon figure — 16.9, followed by Chrysler and GM at 13.6 and 13.5 respectively and Ford at 11.5. Volkswagen, with an average of 22.9 miles per gallon for all its models, topped the list.

THE 10 worst scores in EPA's highway driving tests, all with 14 miles per gallon, were shared by a Ford wagon, Mercury wagon, Ford Torino-Flite, Mercury Montego-Cougar, Ford Torino Wagon, Mercury Montego wagon, a Ford and a Mercury, all with 400 cubic-inch engines and eight cylinders, and a Chevrolet wagon with a 454 cubic-inch engine and a Cadillac Fleetwood 75 with a 500-cubic inch displacement.

Pesticides held cancer hazard

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administrative law judge ruled Friday that the pesticides aldrin and dieldrin are a cancer hazard to which the entire

U.S. population is exposed, and he recommended halting their production.

Environmental Protection Administration Russell E. Train is to decide within 10 days whether to ban production immediately.

Aldrin and dieldrin have been in use 24 years, mainly to suppress crop pests, and the law judge, Herbert J. Perlman, said the entire population is exposed to them as residues in food and in the air.

The government moved to cancel its registrations for most uses of aldrin and dieldrin in March, 1971, but appeals allowed their continued manufacture, sale and use.

The lengthy appeals process is still going on, but Train proposed last Aug. 2 to suspend production of aldrin and dieldrin until the ultimate fate of their federal registrations is decided.

Perlman, who was assigned to hear the case, emphasized in Friday's ruling that he was recommending the suspension of production only until the cancellation case is decided.

EVEN though that may be a relatively short time, Perlman concluded, it is not worth it to risk human health in the meantime.

Cut in transatlantic air service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Great Britain have agreed to cut Atlantic aircraft seat capacity by 20 per cent in an attempt to avert a bankruptcy among U.S. airlines, particularly Pan American Airways. It was announced Friday.

A State Department official said the agreement was reached in negotiations between U.S. and British aviation representatives in Washington this week. It was portrayed as a prelude to similar agreements with other European countries and an increase in North Atlantic air fares — both in lieu of a government subsidy.

Under the agreement,

Pan American will slice the number of seats available by approximately 33 per cent, British Airways by 42 per cent and Trans World Airlines by 11 per cent.

"The agreement will result in the improvement of the economic climate for U.S. airlines operating in the North Atlantic, by cutting down excess airline capacity between the United States and the United Kingdom," the announcement said.

It said the agreement was in line with a plan approved Wednesday by President Ford "to improve the competitive climate in which Pan American and other international air carriers operate."

The State Department added it was initiating early consultations with other European governments for similar agreements "to achieve the elimination of capacity excesses to market demand on services to these countries."

An official said the airlines also hope to secure an early increase of 10 per cent in North Atlantic fares. He added that the fare hike and the reduced seat capacity should enable Pan American Airways to earn the equivalent of a $10 million a month government subsidy which Ford rejected.

In light of a forecast that North Atlantic air travel will decline by 10 to 12 per cent this winter in comparison to last winter, the official noted that TWA also faces financial difficulties and will benefit from the anticipated measures.

GOP chiefs ask special session to cut bonuses

By EVANS WITT
SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican legislative leaders Friday called for the Legislature to come back into session immediately to wipe out the $5.7 million retirement bonus for defeated lawmakers.

The GOP leaders asked the Democratic leadership to reconvene the Legislature to vote on the controversial windfall for up to 61 lawmakers.

"Strong public expression to repeal these pension benefits has continued from the end of the session and it is time the Democratic leaders recognize the need to respond," said Senate Minority Leader George Deukmejian of Long Beach.

DEUKMEJIAN, a 12-year veteran of the Legislature, could be in line for as much as $142,452 in pension bonuses if he retired this year under current law.

The request came only two days after Gov. Reagan said he would not call a special session because Democratic legislative leaders said it would be useless.

A survey of Democratic leaders showed that many favored ending the bonus of immediate pensions — from which many of those leaders could benefit — but that most had questions about a special session on this issue.

"Yes, I'd vote for it (to repeal the bonus)," said Senate President Pro Tem James Mills, 47, D-San Diego. "Most of the senators would vote for it because the heat's on, but they think it is unconstitutional."

Mills, a 14-year veteran of the Capitol, could be in line for a bonus of $11,871 a year, up to a maximum of $142,000 if he left office by Jan. 1, 1975.

"I'M NOT in favor of a special session because of the cost involved," said Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco.

McCarthy, 44, could get up to $73,497 in yearly installments of $4,593 if he is defeated at the polls this year.

Assembly GOP Floor Leader Bob Beverly and Assemblyman Frank Murphy, Assembly GOP Caucus chairman, joined Deukmejian in the call for the special session.

Beverly, 49, from Manhattan Beach, stands to get as much as $67,372 in early pension benefits if he leaves office for any reason by Jan. 1. Murphy, a 40-year-old veteran of eight years in the Legislature, could get as much as $6,124 a year for the next 20 years — a total of $122,496 in possible bonuses.

OTHER legislators interviewed in the last two days who said they would support repeal of the pensions included Sen. Dennis Carpenter, the Senate GOP Caucus chief from Newport Beach; Assemblyman Bill Bagley, the GOP candidate for controller from Marin County; and Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

Normally, a legislator begins to draw the generous pension at age 60 or after retirement after 15 or more years service.

But legislators elected during or before 1969 who are leaving office this year — whether by their own choice or that of the voters — will start drawing their pension immediately. At least eight lawmakers are definitely leaving office this year.

For example, former Assembly Speaker Bob Morretti, 38, D-Van Nuys, can draw more than $8,400 a year for 22 years — a bonus of more than $182,000.

But legislators not leaving office this year also can draw the immediate pensions whenever they leave office because of a change in the law in 1971.

ANY OF the 53 lawmakers eligible for the bonus under this provision can qualify for the bonus simply making a written request.

Many Democratic leaders of the Legislature opposed an end to the pension bonus for those leaving this year while supporting an end to it for lawmakers leaving office after this year.

"In January, we should come back and introduce legislation to eliminate the reapportionment benefits," said Assemblyman Howard Berman, D-Los Angeles, the majority floor leader.

Legal problems could arise in repealing the benefits, other legislators say.

"There are legal questions involved," says Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles. "Legislators who are in the retirement system now have vested rights. I question whether the Legislature can take those away."

RALPH is chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee that killed a bill to wipe out the pension bonus in August.

Judge Richardson high court nominee

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan nominated Justice Frank R. Richardson of Sacramento Friday for appointment to the California Supreme Court.

Richardson, the presiding justice of the 3rd District Court of Appeal in Sacramento, would succeed Associate Justice Louis H. Burke, 69, who is retiring Nov. 20.

Under the State Constitution, the appointment must be confirmed by the Commission for Judicial Appointments, which is composed of Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, Chief Justice Donald Wright of the California Supreme Court and Presiding Justice Parker Wood of the 2nd District Court of Appeal in Los Angeles.

IF CONFIRMED, Richardson, 60, would be the third judge on the seven-man high court bench appointed by Reagan during his eight years in office.

Richardson practiced law in Sacramento for 25 years before being appointed by Reagan to the Sacramento County Superior Court in 1970 and to the appellate court in 1971.

Richardson is a former professor at the University of Pacific's McGeorge

School of Law and is a member of the executive committee of the Stanford Law School.

FBI seeks more wiretap powers against bombers

By JOHN WHEELER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Contending that lawmen are nearly powerless to halt political bombings, FBI Director Clarence Kelley says his agency needs broad wiretap powers to deal with revolutionaries who plant bombs. "It is very difficult to defend (against bombs)," Kelley said in a recent interview. "You can have guards and fences, but intelligent people can find ways of putting bombs in strategic places." Recently, dynamite was found planted at the United Nations, three people were killed at Los Angeles International Airport by a bomb planted to protest U.S. handling of aliens, a judge in Washington State was murdered by a bomb and bombs have exploded at military recruiting centers.

"The FBI director said that with freedom to wiretap, the FBI could keep tabs on the leftist groups which Kelley said were responsible for many of the nation's 2,000 bombings annually in recent years.

"We cannot now place taps on them," Kelley said. "It is difficult to monitor their operations and be alerted when they attack ... Our plea at this time is for legislation permitting wiretapping of these people."

The FBI now is permitted to use wiretaps only with court authorization or in cases involving foreign subversion. The attorney general must approve all FBI wiretaps. Have any of the nation's recent bombings involved foreign groups? "We cannot pinpoint it," Kelley said. "There have been no prosecutions. But it is not an unwarranted assumption."

KELLEY conceded that the new wiretap authorization he seeks from Congress could be considered by some as a threat to civil liberties. But he contended that the more serious threat to society by bombers warranted new legislation.

"Law enforcement has grown up," he said. "We can act with discrimination. We are responsible people and are not going to cause people to needlessly lose their rights."

Kelley said that until 1970, bombings were comparatively rare crimes, with most involving disgruntled employees, organized crime and insurance swindlers. Then the radical left entered the scene, sending bombings to an average of 2,000 a year since 1970. It's a level still maintained today, Kelley said, although political extremism among the young has faded.

"I THINK we have kept (the bombings) pretty well stabilized; there has been no increase," the FBI chief said. But he added, "We have paramilitary organizations which threaten (the country). They are still a threat. As long as we have these small groups, they must use terrorist activities. We must expect a continuation of political style bombings."

Kelley said the FBI has made bombing a top priority problem and has taken several steps to deal with it nationally. These include a national bomb data center and closer cooperation with law enforcement groups around the country.

But he noted that the FBI in many cases can only advise — if asked — or offer federal scientific facilities to local police. The FBI has jurisdiction only in bombings of federal installations; where it can demonstrate that the attacks were motivated, directed or paid for by foreign elements, or when the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution can be invoked.

"I CONSIDER (the bombers) a very serious threat to society," Kelley said, adding that enough bombings could touch off panic. "This is just what they say they are trying to do — to bring the country to its knees through fear."

Kelley believes the far left is responsible for most bombings in this country. Six of the FBI's Ten Most Wanted are from the left, and four of them are accused bombers. An indication of how difficult it has been for the FBI to catch bombers: the four on the Most Wanted list were involved in attacks in 1969 and 1970.

Besides leftists, Kelley said today's bombers include psychopaths and otherwise "normal" citizens whose anger over real and imagined conflicts with government and other social institutions sends them out to buy explosives, incendiaries and timing devices. Police and schools are frequent targets, the latter usually as part of inflamed racial passions associated with busing.

IN THE FIRST quarter of 1974 — the latest FBI statistics available — there were 410 bombings or attempted bombings in the nation, about evenly divided between explosives and incendiary bombs. Three were killed and 32 were injured in the attacks.

The largest number of attacks, 110, were against residences, a figure that bears out Kelley's claim that nonpolitical passion and greed (insurance burnings, for example) account for a major part of the attacks. There were 52 attacks against schools and 11 against law enforcement agencies or lawmen.

About half of all bombings were in the West, FBI figures show. Most of these were in California, long a center for extremists on both the left and right. No arrest or conviction figures were given for the period.

Kelley said bombings by the political right have declined in importance since the 1950s. "The far

U.S. trial tactics to be probed

By AL EISELE
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Officials of the U.S. Justice Department, disturbed by their failure to win convictions in a series of politically charged criminal trials ranging from the 1969 "Chicago Seven" case to this year's Wounded Knee trial, have begun a thorough investigation of the government's handling of such cases.

The investigation, ordered by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, was triggered by criticism of the performance of government prosecutors and of the FBI in the Wounded Knee trial which ended in St. Paul last week.

The 8 1/2-month trial was dismissed by U.S. District Judge Fred Nichol after he charged the two federal agencies with "misconduct" in prosecuting the two men who led last year's 71-day takeover of Wounded Knee, S.D.

In dismissing five felony charges against Indian leaders Dennis Banks and Russell Means, Nichol issued a blistering denunciation of the Justice Department and FBI. Among other things, he accused the top federal prosecutor, Asst. U.S. Atty. R.D. Hurd, of "extreme negligence" and of deceiving the court and castigated the FBI for giving false and misleading testimony.

"I THINK the government negligence was so extreme it involves misconduct of which I am ashamed," Nichol declared.

A spokesman for Saxbe, Robert Havel, said last week that the investigation ordered by the attorney general "is much broader than just the Wounded Knee trial."

Havel said Saxbe ordered department investigators to "take a good hard look at all of the political trials that were conducted since 1969" to determine the performance not only of the department and the FBI but of defense lawyers and judges as well.

The investigation will be under the direction of Jonathon Rose, a top assistant to Dep. Atty. Gen. Laurence Silberman, and will initially center on Wounded Knee.

Much of the department's investigation will be based on firsthand observation of Frank Graves, a lawyer in Silberman's office who was sent to St. Paul as an "observer" for the last two weeks of the trial, and on the transcript of Nichol's 75-minute statement in dismissing the case.

The Wounded Knee case is the latest—as well as one of the longest and most bitterly contested—in a series of trials with heavy political overtones that were initiated by the Nixon administration since 1969.

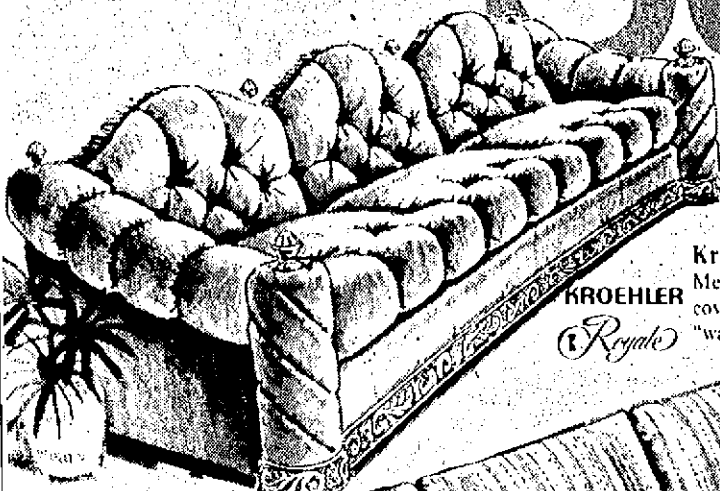

THE CASES, most of which grew out of militant antiwar protests of Nixon administration policy in Southeast Asia, included such celebrated groups as the Chicago Seven, the Weathermen, the Berrian brothers and the Harrisburg Eight, the Gainsville Seven and the Detroit 15 as well as Daniel Ellsberg.

In each of the cases, the defense charged that the government was based on political rather than legal considerations, that they stemmed from the Nixon administration's war on political dissent and that they never should have been brought to trial in the first place.

Most of the cases ended with the failure of the government to prove such crimes as a conspiracy to kidnap Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and to blow up key government buildings in Washington, as the government charged in the Berrian case.

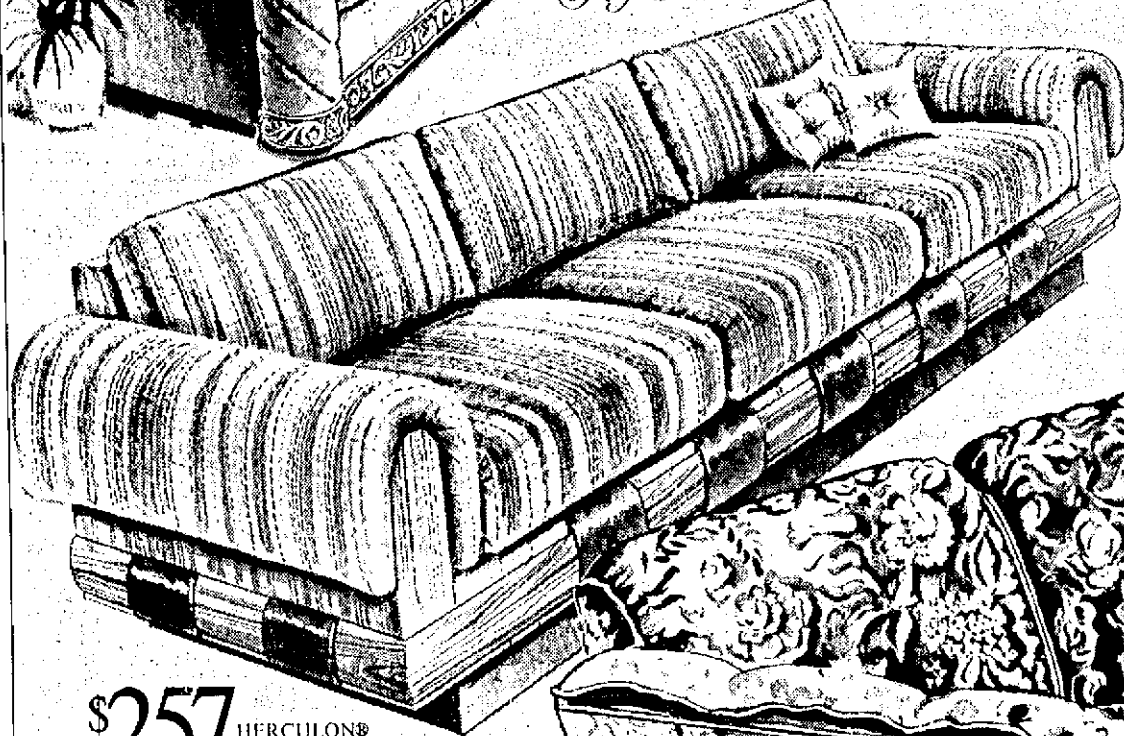

Justice Department officials gave no target date for completion of their investigation, nor did they indicate what kind of a solution, if any, they might come up with to assure that legal safeguards are followed in future political trials.

Ford orders access curbs on tax returns

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford gave strict orders Friday that no one at the White House can see any federal tax returns without a written authorization from the chief executive.

Deputy Press Secretary John W. Hushen, in an obvious reference to testimony that the Nixon administration sought to misuse the IRS for political ends, said of Ford's new executive order:

"I think he's seen what's happened in the past and wants to make sure it doesn't happen in the future, as long as he is president."

At the same time, Ford made public a memo to heads of all departments and agencies underscoring that Civil Service jobs by law cannot be based on political considerations.

The President's aim reportedly was to head off any moves by political appointees of the Nixon administration to secure career federal jobs.

The executive order regulating access by the White House office to federal tax returns was broad and detailed.

If Ford wants any of his aides to see a tax return, the order requires him to write the secretary of the Treasury giving the name and address of the taxpayer involved, the types of returns to be inspected and the taxable periods to be covered.

In addition, unless he seeks a return for his own inspection, Ford must designate by name one or more employees of the White House office who are authorized to receive requested returns and inspect them.

In the past, Treasury regulations limited access to tax returns by federal agencies and the public. But there were no clear legal curbs on White House access to them.

Under Ford's order, which took effect immediately, no information contained in tax returns received from IRS could be disclosed by aides to anyone except the President, unless Ford gave written instructions for them to do so.

The memo on the Civil Service said "appointments and promotions in the career service must not be made on the basis of either politics, race, creed or sex."

Noting that the Civil Service was removed from the old political spoils system decades ago, Ford wrote:

"I intend to keep it that way — and I call upon you to see to it that the merit principles contained in the Civil Service Act and the personnel laws and regulations are fully and effectively carried out in your department or agency."

PAUL SANDOVAL of U.S. Customs tries to find room in the Nogales, Ariz., vault for nearly 19 tons of marijuana confiscated in the area. Four suspects were arrested

19 tons of marijuana seized

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — Two moving vans "packed to the gunwales" with nearly 19 tons of marijuana worth $10.9 million were captured by Customs agents Friday in the largest single marijuana seizure in U.S. history.

Four suspects were arrested when Customs agents in a patrol plane spotted the trucks and notified authorities on the ground, officers said. The trucks were stopped 30 and 45 miles inside Arizona after crossing the border from Mexico shortly after midnight. Agents said the trucks had been under surveillance since they entered the U.S.

The four suspects were identified as Arsenio Delarosa, 26, and Marco Anonio Rzeslawski, age unknown, both U.S. citizens, and Mario Gonzales-Leon, 28, and Juan Torres Rodriguez, 24, both Mexican nationals. Their home towns were not immediately available.

The suspects were taken to Tucson for arraignment before a U.S. magistrate.

In Washington, U.S. Commissioner of Customs Vernon D. Acree said the marijuana would be worth $10.9 million on the street.

Albert G. Bergesen, regional commissioner of Customs in Los Angeles, said 37,785 pounds of marijuana worth an estimated $9.6 million was seized.

"This is the largest single marijuana haul in the history of the United States," Bergesen said.

Bergesen said the two trucks, which he termed medium-size moving vans, "were packed to the gunwales" with marijuana. He said there were two persons in each of the two and one-half-ton trucks, but that none was apparently armed. Both trucks were registered in Arizona.

HE SAID the arrests were made by nine Customs Patrol officers and the case was turned over to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency.

Charles J. Timilty, with the DEA in Nogales, said the trucks were spotted entering the U.S. near the Lochiel, Ariz., port of entry—the same area where two Customs Patrol officers and a suspected drug smuggler were killed in a shootout April 24.

Timilty said the four suspects were charged with importation of marijuana from Mexico to the U.S. and possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute, he said.

Acree said Customs Service tactical interdiction forces have seized more than 500,000 pounds of marijuana in the past year, 125,000 pounds of it in Arizona alone.

Nation's banking system said in worst trouble since 1930s

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's banking system is in more trouble than at any time since the 1930s, Business Week magazine says in its latest issue.

"There may very well be an unprecedented wave of bank mergers and consolidations... and there almost certainly will be some failures," the magazine said.

Business Week says a "distressing" number of commercial banks are "over-loaned, over-borrowed, over-diversified, and undercapitalized."

IN THE last 10 years, the magazine said, banks have grown from strictly local institutions to multinational financial conglomerates.

"Banks needed time to replenish capital. Instead, they got 12 per cent inflation and tight money."

The banks are short on capital at a time when bank stocks have dropped 50 per cent to 80 per cent in value on the market, the magazine said.

"Meanwhile, nearly every business that the (bank) holding companies have gone into, from real estate to equipment leasing, is in some degree of trouble today."

The magazine accompanied its report with its annual survey of the financial performance of the country's 200 largest banks, which control the bulk of the $553 billion in assets of the 14,338 commercial banks in the U.S.

Business Week said one bank's problems can become the problems of another, noting that Manufacturers Hanover Trust is one of the major creditors of Franklin National Bank. Franklin National used to be the nation's 20th largest bank but dropped to 47th in the magazine's survey after a massive loss in foreign exchange trading.

THE MAGAZINE said Franklin National is struggling to avoid being merged into another bank.

The Federal Reserve Board put in more than $1 billion to keep Franklin alive, but the magazine quoted Fed Governor John E. Sheehan as saying it would be a mistake for bankers to assume the regulators "are just not going to allow major banks to fail."

The Federal Reserve, fearing that bank holding companies were growing too fast, has recently denied acquisition attempts by such industry giants as BankAmerica Corp., parent of the San Francisco-based Bank of America, the world's largest commercial bank, and Citicorp, parent of First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest bank.

ACCORD

year. They also have agreed to stop harassing Jews seeking emigration permits and to ease restrictions concerning Jews who have held what Moscow officials claim were national security positions.

The administration's trade bill would extend nondiscriminatory tariff treatment to the Soviet Union, putting the Communist nation on the same level as Western European countries.

The obvious involvement of the trade bill in the high-level discussions Friday was underscored when Ford met with Jackson for 45 minutes just before his session with Gromyko.

After he saw Ford, the senator told reporters that "the Russians have come 180 degrees" because of "the perseverance and hard bargaining" conducted by the Ford administration.

Nevertheless, Jackson said a final settlement of the issue has not been reached — an apparent reference to his disagreement with the President.

CIA's Chile action backed by Kissinger

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger did not reveal the extent of the Central Intelligence Agency's involvement with labor unions and trade groups in Chile during separate briefings this week to congressional leaders and the Ford administration Cabinet, reliable administration and congressional sources said Friday.

The sources said that Kissinger offered an emotional defense of the CIA's clandestine operations in Chile during the regular Tuesday morning Cabinet meeting, explaining that, as one source with first-hand knowledge said "all we did was support newspapers and political opponents of Allende who were under siege."

A similar description of the CIA's role was publicly made by President Ford in his televised news conference Monday, and again by Kissinger during testimony Thursday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Exclusive N.Y. Times Service

The New York Times reported Friday that the CIA secretly financed labor unions and trade groups for more than 18 months before the government of Chilean President Salvador Allende was overthrown last September in a bloody coup.

More than half of the $8 million authorized for covert CIA operations during the three-year presidency of Allende was utilized to finance and provide support payments for striking middle class workers, the Times's sources said.

In the Cabinet meeting, according to an administration source, Kissinger gave some examples of the type of clandestine activities underwritten by the CIA — dealing with direct aid to an allegedly threatened newspaper and anti-Allende politicians.

The source said that some Cabinet members noted at the time that Kissinger was telling them, in effect, "here's the kind of thing we did" and did not specifically reveal what actually had been undertaken by the CIA. At no time during the meeting, the source said, did Kissinger mention the financing of labor union or trade groups.

The secretary of state also told the Cabinet members, the source said, that the CIA's total investment in Chile since 1964 — some $11 million — was "marginal." Other sources have told the Times, however, that the CIA operatives in Chile were able to exchange the American dollars on the black market at levels up to 800 per cent higher than in commercial banks — suggesting that the investment could have a local impact of more than $40 million.

Kissinger served as President Nixon's national security adviser when the initial decisions about Chile's future were made in 1969 and 1970 and also was chairman of the 40 Committee, a high-level intelligence panel that oversees and authorizes clandestine CIA activity.

DURING classified testimony in September, 1973, shortly after Allende's downfall, Kissinger did not tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of the CIA's involvement with unions and trade groups. He depicted the CIA's role in Chile as "very minor" and said the efforts there were aimed at strengthening the "democratic political parties."

HEALTH COSTS

attacked at Friday's meeting by Alexander McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association.

"I DON'T think it helps the dialogue going on... by misusing that kind of statistic as a scare tactic," said McMahon at the meeting, one of a series of miniseminars on the economy.

McMahon identified himself as one of HEW's "vociferous" critics who have been putting heavy heat on the department to stop projecting monthly rates to annual rates.

Nelson Cruikshank, president of the National Council of Senior Citizens, rose to Altman's defense. "I also speak as a vociferous critic of the administration," he said, "but from the consumer's point of view, I don't think these are scare tactics."

Factors leading the overall price increase in addition to medical costs included higher costs for mortgage interest and clothes.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called the retail price report "very, very bad news" and said consumers could expect to see worse in the future because the wholesale price index also is climbing.

The Labor Department said the Consumer Price Index for August was 150.2 — meaning it took $15.02 last month to purchase goods and services that cost $10 in 1967. The August jump was the sharpest since February.

WITH prices taking a new jump and his own advisers acknowledging a gloomy economic outlook, President Ford Friday asked Congress for long-range budget cuts totaling $20 billion in the fields of welfare, waste disposal and highways.

Reducing or indefinitely delaying the start of new spending outlays, he said, would be requested in a series of proposals to Congress in coming days.

Budget Director Roy L. Ash told reporters the desired delays would lower the current year's budget by only $600 million but would mean cuts of up to $20 billion in long-range spending programs.

In a special message to Congress, Ford described budget restraint as a "crucial factor" in the fight against inflation, and said, "We cannot expect others to exercise necessary restraint unless the government itself does so."

Under a new law, presidential deferrals of budget programs go into effect automatically unless either house of Congress takes action within 60 days to reject it. Cutbacks, as opposed to postponements, must be specifically approved by action of both houses within 45 days.

FORD'S proposals — which concentrate heavily on the so-called "people programs" and leave military spending virtually untouched — are certain to generate controversy in Congress.

NIXON EXAMINATION

it may be discussed.

The United States Court of Appeals, meanwhile, upheld Sirica in turning down six other appeals to delay the trial. At least one defense lawyer said he might go to the Supreme Court for a delay. The appeals generally centered on pretrial publicity.

Nixon is troubled by phlebitis, a vein inflammation, in his left leg and is to be hospitalized Monday in Long Beach.

Nixon's lawyers have cited his health as a reason for declining to give a deposition in a lawyer's office as part of a separate civil suit. He was to appear Tuesday in Santa Ana, but his lawyers have asked that the subpoena for his appearance be quashed.

Nixon's lawyers have given no indication of what action they might take in responding to a subpoena for his appearance at the trial.

Nixon has been called as both a defense and prosecution witness and Friday Jaworski suggested an immediate health inquiry so as not to delay the trial.

Jaworski, in a response to Ehrlichman's motion, suggested that Herbert Miller, Nixon's lawyer, could be brought before the court and "inform the court, if he is able to do so, what Nixon's present condition is and whether it can be expected that Nixon will appear at the trial."

Jaworski stated that although there had been news reports of Nixon's illness, the court had "presently no sound basis for concluding that his health is so precarious... that he will be unable to appear as a witness."

"If Miller indicates that Nixon's condition is such that he may be unable to appear at trial, the court could then consider taking the customary step of appointing a team of medical experts to examine Nixon and report their findings to the court," Jaworski said.

It would "end the matter" if the doctors found Nixon fit for trial purposes, the special prosecutor stated. If they did not, he added, a deposition could be taken for later use at the trial.

FIERY CONFRONTATION Friday at Long Beach Commission on Economic Opportunities pitted Jose Garcia, right, director of Obreros Latinos Unidos, and Henry Bayhi, finance director of CEO.

5 cases of typhus found in Orange Co

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1974 ★ SECTION B—PAGE B-1
MARKETS ON PAGES B-9, 10, 11

The discovery of five cases of typhus in Orange County during the first two months of this year was reported Friday by Dr. John Philip, the county's health officer.

Each victim recovered, the doctor said. He identified the cases as a Cypress woman and two women and two children living in the same foothills area west of Orange.

The onset of one case apparently ranged back to November 1972, a second to April 1973, and the others occurred last fall.

The disease is considered rare, and its identification was uncertain, so the methods of treatment were not the same, it was explained. The last typhus case was in 1967, Philip said.

The first case to be diagnosed as typhus involved the Cypress woman, who complained that she was bitten by a tick which had adhered to a Christmas tree grown in Oregon and which she had bought Dec. 9, 1973.

Dr. Philip said that the woman, who was 41, was hospitalized Jan. 3 with Rocky Mountain fever the tentative diagnosis.

Meanwhile, doctors began an examination of febrile (fever) cases. Gradually, the other typhus cases came to light.

A 36-year-old woman, who lived in the foothills east of Orange, was hospitalized Dec. 24, 1973, four days after she became ill.

This woman told physicians two of her neighbors had illnesses similar to hers which had not been diagnosed.

Philip said one of the neighbors cited by the woman was a 10-year-old girl, who had taken ill in September 1973. The other neighbor, he said, was an 11-year-old boy whose illness had occurred in April of the same year.

The fourth case in the same neighborhood involved a 41-year-old woman schoolteacher. Philip said the woman was hospitalized after becoming ill Nov. 11, 1972.

On the basis of extensive laboratory tests of blood samples, each case ultimately was established as typhus.

The schoolteacher's blood was sampled last March 3, almost 16 months after her illness, and Philip said the test confirmed the typhus suspicion.

The health officer said each of the four neighbors living in the foothills west of Orange knew opossums and skunks were in the area. The school teacher had found a family of opossums in her garage, and her family took one of the animals into the house to nurse it when it became ill.

Each of the typhus victims had household pets which were permitted outdoors, and each victim reported problems with flea bites, Philip said.

Mishandling of funds to aid minorities charged

By DENISE KUSEL
Staff Writer

Money earmarked for minority programs is being mishandled by the East Long Beach Neighborhood Center, the director of Obreros Latinos Unidos (OLI) charged Friday in a demonstration at the Commission on Economic Opportunities.

Jose Garcia, the leader of a group of 50 pickets who surrounded the commission offices at 853 Atlantic Ave., claimed money intended for minority programs was "finding its way into the pockets of a select few."

He also contended that programs at the center are not reflecting the needs of Long Beach's Mexican-American community.

"I could give you names," Garcia said, holding a fistful of legal-sized papers in his right hand, "but I'm afraid of reprisals. I'm afraid my people will be harassed."

"These people have already been threatened," Garcia cried. "They have been threatened by immigration people and by the welfare people."

"They want us to keep quiet." Garcia would not give names of officials he claims have threatened the people protesting the programs and administration at the East Long Beach Neighborhood Center.

The Commission on Economic Opportunities (CEO) funds only a portion of the center's budget.

Henry Bayhi, director of finance for the commission, met with Garcia. Bayhi told the OLI leader that if he had evidence that officials of the center were misusing funds he should turn it over to the commission.

Garcia asked for "protection" for "the signers of certain documents."

Bayhi countered that he could not guarantee protection, adding that there was no reason to believe it was necessary.

The confrontation ended in a stalemate. Bayhi told the Independent Press-Telegram that $160,000 funds bilingual youth programs in Long Beach.

"We're sitting in the middle," Bayhi said. "On one side are the funding sources, on the other are the people. We delegate the funds."

Garcia has described one sore point as the Head Start program in Long Beach and Hawaiian Gardens, which serves a total of 480 preschool children.

He claims that the programs are not teaching Mexican-American children "anything about their heritage or culture."

"We need a community organization that cares about the people in the community. We should be using the East Long Beach Neighborhood Center as a meeting place in the community," Garcia said.

Elaine Jackson, director of the Head Start program, which is headquartered in the CEO building, said a complete study of the ethnic makeup of each Head Start unit in Long Beach and Hawaiian Gardens would be available by the end of this month.

Visas for Viet students urged

The U. S. government should grant valid visas to two South Vietnamese students studying at Long Beach State University who are facing deportation, the college's Academic Senate resolved Friday.

The Senate, which represents the college faculty, also urged that seven other South Vietnamese students—three of them LBSU graduates—be granted the political asylum they have requested.

The Senate resolution noted that Le Ngoc Tan and Bui Van Duong, two engineering students, had been denied renewal of their passports by the Thieu regime for speaking out against the Saigon government.

"These two students, if forced to return to South Vietnam, might be imprisoned and brutally tortured along with thousands of other political prisoners which the Thieu regime currently holds," the Senate resolution stated.

The Senate also asked the federal government to grant asylum to the seven other students, who say that they'll go to jail if they're returned to Saigon.

Disputed Belmont Shore projects face coast unit

By KRIS SHERMAN
Staff Writer

Two controversial condominium projects, proposed for construction in Belmont Shore, are scheduled for public hearing Monday by the South Coast Regional Commission.

Commissioners are due to convene at 9 a.m. in the Long Beach Harbor Department's board room, 925 Harbor Plaza Drive.

One of the proposed projects is a 30-unit condominium planned for construction near Alamitos Bay at 201 Bayshore Ave. The other is an 18-unit condominium to be built at 5950 Naples Plaza.

The two projects, both scheduled near the end of the daylong agenda, have been recommended for denial by the commission's staff, which noted the Belmont Shore area already is very crowded.

Nevertheless, the appearance of the projects on the commission agenda renews a smoldering battle between the developers, who contend they are merely trying to turn a profit from their property, and area residents, who urge the preservation of what little open space is left.

Since commissioners are not bound to honor the recommendations of their staff—and very often do not—it is probable that representatives from community groups will appear to oppose the projects.

Unless a proposed project is opposed at the regional level, environmentalist and citizen groups have no grounds for appeal to the state commission.

A developer may always appeal a denial.

The Bayshore Avenue project has been the object of legal snarls and citizen opposition for nearly two years.

Following receipt of a building permit on Oct. 31, 1972, and a demolition permit three days later, property owner Margaret W. Allisen completed demolition of her existing 25-unit motel.

Based on the amount of money she spent before the passage of Proposition 20 while preparing the site for what was originally to have been a 52-unit apartment complex, Mrs. Allison applied for and received a claim of exemption from the newly formed South Coast Regional Commission.

That decision, however, was overturned on appeal to the California Coastal Conservation Commission.

On April 25 of this year, a Los Angeles Superior Court judge ordered the state commission to reverse its denial, but that decision is currently on appeal.

Following a public hearing last June 3, regional commissioners denied Mrs. Allison permission to construct a 36-unit condominium at the site. According to the commission's staff report, the property might better be used for a public park.

"A park on this triangular piece of property would provide an identity point to the Belmont Shore community and would serve the city library and public beach to good advantage," reads the report.

In recommending denial for the Naples condominium project, proposed by Edward Brattain, the staff report said:

"Urban uses must be subjected to particular scrutiny when proposed for one of the few remaining open spaces in proximity to the water."

Other area projects scheduled for hearing Monday include the construction of a single-family dwelling and duplex at 60 Bennett Ave., Long Beach, by Ann Leifhelm; and the construction of three observation wells and attendant piping by the Los Angeles County Flood Control District at three intersections in Wilmington.

Constitution Day fete in Buena Park

The annual Constitution Day parade and observance sponsored by Orange County's Masonic lodges and Knights of Columbus lodges will be at 3 p.m. today in Buena Park.

2 face trial in L.B. pigeon drop

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Long Beach Superior Judge John A. Arguelles Friday ordered two Los Angeles women to face trial Oct. 23 in connection with the swindling of two Long Beach matrons who lost more than $3,000 between them.

The defendants—Regina Taylor, 28, and Kaiulani Marie Clayton, 19—are free on $15,000 bail each in the case. The women are also on bail in connection with a similar case that is scheduled to be tried in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Miss Taylor is charged with two counts of strong-arm robbery and grand theft, Miss Clayton with one count of robbery.

According to Long Beach Detective Ron Burbark, who arrested the defendants during their arraignment in Los Angeles, the two women used a variation of the classic pigeon drop to bilk and rob their Long Beach victims.

The pigeon drop usually demands a mixture of gullibility and sympathy on the part of the victim, who is invariably asked to put up some good faith money before sharing in a substantial find of money that doesn't really exist.

Solutions, he suggested, include revising the state's tax laws to eliminate some of the competition between cities, aiming at balanced cities, and rearranging city boundaries to do so.

Graham Eddy, a planner and environmental consultant for V.T.N. Consolidated of Irvine, talked about the problem of trying to plan a new community for a projected coal mining operation in Wyoming. He said that under present financing the developer of that community, expected to house some 12,000 persons, has to lose $2 million a year

Mariner begins snapping new photos of Mercury

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 10, the first spacecraft to fly a dual planet mission, began taking pictures of Mercury for the second time Friday, giving scientists another look at the solar system's smallest planet.

The spacecraft, which turned on its twin television cameras Monday for the first time in six months for calibration tests, was programmed to begin transmitting scientifically useful pictures to earth at 1:41 p.m. PDT.

Before the photographic mission is finished at 2:40 p.m. Sunday, the space explorer will have returned more than 500 pictures, one each 42 seconds, of the bleak, moon-like surface of Mercury.

Mariner 10 was launched Nov. 3, 1973, and transmitted the first closeup pictures of Venus last Feb. 3. It used the planet's gravity to bend its trajectory so that it could intercept Mercury last March 29.

Since then, it has been in a 176-day orbit that matched two of Mercury's 88-day revolutions and allowed Mariner 10 to catch up with the planet in almost exactly the same spot in the solar system.

When it leaves Mercury this weekend, Mariner will continue in the same orbit which could lead to a third useful encounter with the planet next March 16, if the spacecraft's attitude gas supply holds up.

Mariner 10's second meeting with Mercury was designed to give full photographic coverage of the planet's southern hemisphere. Scientists wanted to learn if the polar region's surface is similar to the moon-like landscape shown in the March 29 pictures.

Since Mariner 10 was launched, it has traveled nearly 350 million miles. It will make its closest approach to Mercury at 1:59 p.m. PDT today at a distance of 30,000 miles.

When does a litterbug think that he is not a litterbug?

MADISON (UPI) — Many persons who litter don't think they are litterbugs, a University of Wisconsin sociologist believes.

So how can littering be prevented?

Not merely by posting more signs about littering, increasing fines or providing more trash barrels along roadsides, says Thomas Heberlein.

Heberlein used information from all 50 states to try to determine the relationship between the number of litter control devices and the amount of litter found on the nation's roads.

From the study, he said it's likely many persons simply don't regard their littering acts as littering.

gested using brighter, attractive cans.

"People troubling to use the 55 gallon drums usually would not litter anyway," he said.

"Prettier, fun-to-use cans would encourage the litterer to use them," he said.

Heberlein said littering laws are difficult to enforce, and suggested that fines be lowered to match traffic violations.

Heberlein said stiff fines given litterbugs make an officer want positive proof before he hands out a $100 fine.

"IT MIGHT help if anti-littering signs were more specific," Heberlein said.

"Better that the sign reads, 'Paper is litter, do not throw paper out of your car,' rather than merely 'Do not litter,'" he said.

Heberlein said he also thinks 55-gallon litter drums are not as effective as they could be. He suggested using brighter, attractive cans.

"OFFICERS arrest litterers at a lower rate than other traffic violators," he said. "Estimates put littering violations at the rate of 1,000 a mile per month, yet the arrest rate is low in comparison."

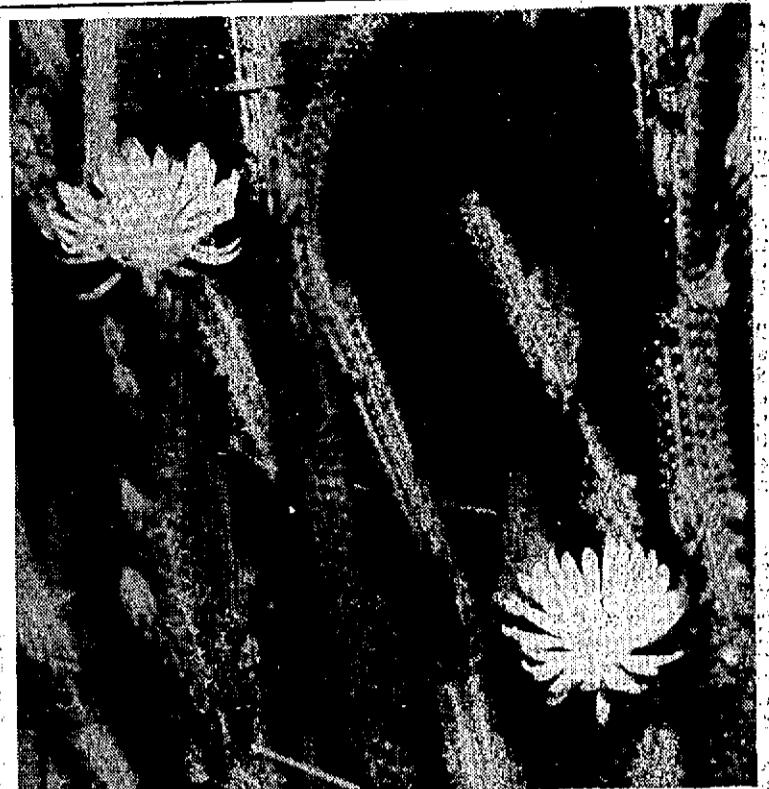

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Cacti and succulents form an excellent group of plants one can artistically arrange and plant in a garden with minimal care involved. Some of the plants are indeed specimens that stand out and furnish eye appealing effect, as well as attractive blossoms in season.

Carefully selected groupings of succulents furnish contrasting foliage colors even when plants aren't blooming. Gardener can have an effective showing of containers with cacti and succulents in the patio area.

Some of the spreading plants cascade down over a pot or a hanging basket, while others can be tied to supports on a wall for a graceful, effective display.

CACTI SUCCULENTS - easy care plants

FOR INSTANCE: nycto-cereus serpentine cactus has lots of sprawly and very thorny branches. It is an excellent plant to grow in the garden against a lath house, trellis or supports, or even in a large container provided gardener has supports for it.

A well-established cereus cactus usually blooms in late June, through July into early August. The delightfully fragrant white flowers with pale yellow centers bloom near midnight. (We had the rare pleasure one time of watching those heavenly flowers open at night).

The euphorbiae has an interesting group of showy and colorful plants, some such as croton, acalypha, ricinus, manihot, homolanthus, and euphorbia the showy poinsettias, as well as euphorbia species of cactus-like succulents, too.

throughout the summer season.

There are two types of herbicide weed control — the pre-emerge and post-emerge. The pre-emerge herbicide sterilizes, inhibits, kills the weed seeds before they sprout, even if the sprouts have barely emerged. The post-emerge herbicide is strictly a weed killer.

NOW AS TO dichondra and the spurge weeds infestation. Gardener cannot use a post emerge on the weeds because the herbicide doesn't know that dichondra lawn is a wanted lawn. To it, dichondra is a broad leaf weed and therefore it kills the lawn.

There is an herbicide post-emerge strictly for spurge one can use on dichondra. Check with your nurseryman, and be sure to ask him if professional gardeners recommend it to him and to tell his customers about it.

The only other recourse is to either hand weed out the spurge, or else use a pre-emerge herbicide which is a safe herbicide to use on dichondra. Now's a good time to start using it. Some gardeners are beginning to use a turf fertilizer for dichondra that contains the pre-emerge herbicide to attack the spurge weed seeds, also a host of other smaller weeds but listed as broad leaf weeds that are not as large as dandelion or others of a similar weed group.

Additionally the herbicide also attacks the weed seeds of annual blue grass, wild grass seeds, including crab grass.

Flournoy raps wire services

Associated Press

Republican Houston Flournoy criticized the two major news services Friday for helping make his Democratic opponent Edmund G. Brown Jr. an all but invisible man in the California governor's race.

Brown, meanwhile, aimed his verbal fire at the Reagan administration, almost ignoring Flournoy entirely.

Brown accused Gov. Reagan of cronyism in his appointments to the Air Resources Board and called it "one example of how the Reagan administration has failed to safeguard California's environment."

AND the board of directors of the California State Employees Association voted Friday to endorse Brown for governor, the first time in the organization's 40-year history that it has endorsed a gubernatorial candidate.

Flournoy told state newspaper publishers that he is "running against a phantom" and called for more in-person news work by the Associated Press and United Press International.

"I know it is not the wish of those excellent political writers to be spending so much of this campaign in their Sacramento offices, rewriting press releases on what goes on in this governor's race," said Flournoy, addressing the California Newspaper Publishers Association at the University of California at Berkeley campus.

"They'd like to be out on this campaign, and I want them with me — and with my opponent — all the time."

"IT IS the people's right to know — firsthand — where the candidates stand and whether their deeds contradict their words," he said. "Only through in-person, in-depth reporting can this be learned."

"And since you members of the AP and subscribers to the UPI are the only ones that can order this kind of coverage, I believe you should insist upon it."

Flournoy complained last summer about thin campaign coverage, particularly by television newsmen, whom he said were "great on Watergate" but inadequate on state politics.

Brown, meanwhile, told the League of Conservation Voters in Los Angeles that Reagan appointed "his political cronies to the state Air Resources Board. One of them was Charles Conrad, a former Republican assemblyman whose only qualification was that he served faithfully in the Legislature."

"I intend to appoint qualified persons to the board who are capable of making good judgments about air pollution which are in the interests of the people of California."

"THIS case of the ARB is one example of how the Reagan administration has failed to safeguard California's environment. As governor I would reverse that trend. But my opponent just promises more of the same for Californians concerned about their air and water," Brown said.

Continuing his campaign tactic of recent weeks, Brown focused his campaign attacks on the Reagan administration, and not Flournoy.

But Brown directly attacked Flournoy for his performance as chairman of the state lands commission, saying Flournoy has supported renewed oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Smog curb extension for L.A. seen

By RICHARD SALTUS AP Science Writer

The Los Angeles area may be granted an extension of the 1977 deadline for meeting federal clean air standards because it is a "special case," the chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee said Friday.

"I personally think there must be a modification of the Clean Air Act of 1970 as it applies to the 1977 standards for Los Angeles," said Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va.

Randolph made the disclosure in response to warnings by Gov. Reagan that forcing the South Coast Air Basin to meet the deadline would ruin California's economy.

The senator said he felt Reagan "overreacted" and said, "I wish to assure the governor that this situation will not result" from federal requirements.

In an interview, Randolph said the "modification" would probably take the form of authorizing the Environmental Protection Agency to extend the 1977 deadline, as long as local officials committed themselves to cleaning up the air as quickly as possible.

But he also said, "we do have a challenge to protect the environmental health of the people in the South Coast Air Basin. The chief counsel of the Senate committee, which is responsible for antipollution legislation, said the government didn't expect Los Angeles to do the impossible."

"We're not going to wipe out the city of Los Angeles," said Barry Meyer. "Nobody's going to require the city to disappear."

One of Reagan's strongest complaints was that the guidelines would virtually eliminate the use of the private automobile in the South Coast air basin.

Meyer said the Senate, if it agreed with Randolph's position, would tell the EPA, "It's going to take a lot longer to achieve the ambient air quality in Los Angeles" than in other areas of the country.

But he emphasized that this special treatment for Los Angeles did not mean the 1977 requirements were going to be changed through legislation.

Privately, a source close to the committee said Los Angeles may never meet federal air quality standards, but that the area must be prodded into reducing pollution as drastically as it can.

Randolph was in Los Angeles for a conference of transportation industry leaders on ways to combat inflation.

U.S. Defense Department filed suit against the state of California to allow competitive bidding. The U.S. Supreme Court subsequently found the state had no jurisdiction on milk pricing for the military, Gagan said.

Under arrangements with insurance companies and various distributors of Oriental rugs, we have now received instructions to dispose of and totally clear a large collection of highest grade Persian and Oriental Rugs.

Included are: LUXURY KERMAN, KASHAN, PALACE GUMES, BOKHARAS, HUNTING CARPETS, VASE & GARDEN OF FLOWERS CARPETS, PRAYER RUGS, BELOUCHESTAN, SAROUKS, SILK RUGS, and many others.

Luxury Kerman (the soft wool of the chest part of the young Persian lamb is used); Qume Silk (silk obtained by cultivating the silk worm on the leaves of the Mulberry tree); Tabriz (it was here that the beautiful hunting carpets were woven); Ardebil (Medallion & Geometric designs — a famous example is the Ardebil carpet in the Victoria and Albert Museum in London); Prayer Rugs (they are recognized from Meharbi).

Panel urges milk pricing study

United Press International

A select committee of the state Assembly on food, agriculture and nutrition said it would recommend changes in milk price law administration so school districts could buy milk as cheaply as supermarkets or the military.

The nine-member committee, chaired by Rep. March Fong, D-Alameda, held hearings Friday to take testimony from Agriculture Department officials and school district representatives.

The meeting was termed, "curious, bewildering and disturbing," by Mike Gagan, a consultant to the committee.

He said it was brought out that the same milk from same cows, same processing facility and same distributor is marketed at three different prices by virtue of California's pricing law.

Gagan said school districts pay 10.2 cents per half pint. Supermarkets pay 9.2 cents and the military pays 8 cents per half pint.

"What we have here," Gagan said, "is a circumstance where a kid in Watts pays more for his milk than a retired admiral in El Toro does."

He said committee members agreed the Agriculture Department should suspend the wholesale pricing mechanism to allow school districts to bid competitively for milk.

He said the committee felt prices would then drop by 2.2 cents per half pint.

He said committee members will formally present evidence to the director of the department to justify hearings for the school districts which had been requested but rejected earlier by the department.

The situation came about purely through the administration of the existing law, Gagan said.

Counties only must repay welfare excess

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Court of Appeals has ruled that counties only must repay the state for erroneous welfare payments in the amount actually recovered from recipients.

The state had sought to collect an extrapolated total of erroneous welfare payments, based on an audit of a percentage of an entire county caseload.

The appellate court upheld a lower court order favoring Marin and Alameda counties and rejected the State Social Welfare Department's claim that counties should be held totally fiscally responsible for such administrative errors in payments.

In a ruling late Thursday the court said: "It would be wholly unjust to hold the state's counties alone responsible for error committed under state supervision, by state-selected eligibility workers who must liberally construe and promptly apply complex federal and state welfare laws and regulations."

In Alameda County, an audit of 91 cases out of a total of 285,000 disclosed three errors representing improper or excessive welfare payments of $269.

Garden Grove Community Church is the home of the largest Sunday School in Orange County with over 1000 enrolled. It is directed by Rev. Kenneth Van Wk, Minister of Education. Double session classes are held at 9:30 and again at 11:15.

FIVE SINGLES GROUPS

Hundreds of single adults in five age groupings meet under the newly installed Minister to Singles, Rev. James Smoke (in addition to the exciting college group).

ORANGE COUNTY YOUTH CENTER OPEN

The High School, Junior High, and Collegians meet, not only on Sunday mornings, but through the week in Orange County's Christian Youth Center building, a 25,000-square foot facility. Twenty-two high schools are represented in our High School Youth Department. Don Brenneman, Youth Minister, reported.

THREE EXTRA SERVICES

In addition to the 9:30 and 11:15 service, three other Sunday Worship services are offered.

SKY HIGH CHURCH

A 7:30 a.m. service is held every Sunday at the Little Chapel In The Sky located at the top of the fourteen story Tower of Hope. Early morning worshippers have a spectacular view from the Santa Ana Mountains to Catalina Island. Dr. Henry Bellman is in charge.

At 8:15 every Sunday morning Dr. Raymond Beckering, co-pastor with Dr. Schuller, conducts the first walk-in drive-in church service with choirs and trumpets.

CANDELIGHT GARDEN OF PRAYER

The closing service of the day is at 7:00 p.m. also a walk-in drive-in service. It is conducted by Rev. Calvin Rybrandt, Minister of Evangelism. Hundreds gather at the altar for prayers in candlelight at the close of every Sunday evening service. "Only God knows the miracles that happen here every Sunday night," the pastor announced.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR COUNSELING

Garden Grove Community Church is the first church in America that organized and trained its members to man a twenty-four hour live telephone counseling ministry which has been in continuous operation since September, 1968. For counseling, people need only dial the letters N-E-W-H-O-P-E.

FREWAY HUB OF ORANGE COUNTY

Garden Grove Community Church is located at Chapman and Lewis Streets in Garden Grove, near the Garden Grove and Santa Ana freeways, the freeway hub of Orange County.

MRS. JOHN GOSSETT tearfully hugs her five-year-old daughter at Lambert-St. Louis Airport where they were united after FBI agents found the allegedly kidnapped child in Houston, Tex. —UPI

Kidnaped girl family reunited

BELLEVILLE, ILL. (UPI) — Five-year-old Kimberly Gossett returned home to a tearful reunion with her parents Friday after two months of shuffling from city to city with the man who kidnapped her.

The blonde, blue-eyed child, wearing a pink, one-piece dress, walked down the ramp of a plane at nearby Lambert-St. Louis Airport holding the hand of an FBI agent. Her face broke into a bright smile when she saw her family and she ran to her weeping mother and embraced her.

"My baby, my baby," cried her mother, Constance Gossett.

The girl whispered greetings to her family but only smiled in bewilderment at the crush of reporters and cameramen who surrounded the family.

"SHE LOOKS wonderful," said her father, John Gossett, fighting back tears. "We're so happy to have her back."

Kimberly's brother, Tracy, 7, burst into tears as the girl alighted from the plane. He clutched two packages wrapped in pink paper and tied with pink ribbon. He said the packages contained a doll, a bracelet and a new dress for his sister.

"It's been a long ordeal, but we never gave up hope," Mrs. Gossett said. "I can't remember ever being as happy as when I found out she had been found."

Gossett, 41, a sanitation truck driver, said he and his wife had been "separated a couple of times" before the abduction, but the episode brought them back together.

Gossett held Kimberly in his arms as the family walked from the airport terminal to a station wagon.

"We're going home," he told his daughter.

Kimberly was found unharmed and in good health by FBI agents Thursday in a Houston, Tex., home run by a religious sect.

William Dean Atchison, 28, a former race-track groom at Cahokia Downs in Illinois, was named in a federal warrant as the kidnaper two days after the girl disappeared July 7 in Belleville. He was arrested by agents at a Houston shopping center shortly after the girl was found.

Kimberly had been at a swimming party in Belleville, and Atchison offered to drive the girl home. Both disappeared.

Atchison had been the prime suspect because he knew Kimberly through her babysitter, had given the girl a gift and once told a fellow worker he would like to have a daughter like Kimberly, the FBI said.

AUTHORITIES conducted a widespread search for Atchison, and the girl in the St. Louis area, and Mrs. Gossett consulted a Chicago psychic in an unsuccessful effort to locate the child.

FBI agents in Houston said Atchison had boarded with different religious groups moving from city to city but was not affiliated with any of them. Agents said Atchison and Kimberly had been in New Orleans until Tuesday, when they left for Houston.

A New Orleans man recognized Atchison from a wanted poster and contacted the FBI, which traced him to Houston, authorities said.

Siamese twins' mom thanking 'two gods'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The mother of Siamese twins who were successfully separated this week says that when she prays she thanks two people for guiding the lives of her daughters.

"There are two gods, one up in heaven," Mrs. Farida Rodriguez said pointing to the sky, "and one on earth," she said kissing the doctor who successfully separated her twins.

"It's hard to explain a feeling that's rather unbelievable," the mother said, looking wistfully at the doctor.

The Spanish-speaking Mrs. Rodriguez, 32, speaking through an interpreter, said her pregnancy had been normal until Clara and Alta were born joined at the waist. That was Aug. 12, 1973, in a Dominican Republic village.

Last Wednesday, the girls were separated by a team of surgeons headed by Dr. C. Everett Koop at Childrens Hospital in a 10½-hour procedure.

"Clara is lying in bed, completely relaxed, and looks like a million dollars," Koop said Friday.

No Synod healing, Moon's message,

By LES RODNEY
Religion Editor

Is time healing the wounds of the bitter theological rift within the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod? Is the rebel seminary-in-exile (Seminex) slowly fading out of existence, without, the support of the Synod organization?

Not so you can notice! Seminex, formed by the "moderates" who made up the overwhelming majority of the faculty at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, reports a fall enrollment of 408. Concordia, formerly the largest Lutheran seminary in North America, has enrolled 190. (Enrollment at the other Synod seminary, in Springfield, Ill., is 380.)

Seminex is using the facilities of Eden Theological Seminary (United Church of Christ) and St. Louis University (Jesuit).

Meanwhile, relations between Missouri and the ALC, which had reached the altar and pulpit fellowship stage two years ago, have deteriorated dramatically. Dr. William H. Weiblen, president of the ALC's Wartburg Seminary of Dubuque, Iowa, addressing an assembly of the Synod "moderates" — called Evangelical Lutherans in Mission — said that Dr. J.A.O. Preus, president of the Missouri Synod, "determinedly pushes for an absolutism that few can embrace." Their fighting words, pardner.

Efforts at reconciliation within the Synod continue. Latest overture, from the "moderate" side, comes from Dr. Oliver Harms, former Synod president who was beaten by Preus in the election of 1969.

Harms proposes a "theological council" involving professors, clergy and laity of the Synod, to determine whether or not the so-called historical-critical method of Scripture study could exist side-by-side with the literal method of Biblical interpretation.

The proposal would seem to have this merit: it is exactly at this point that the split really occurred. Beyond personalities and denominational politics, this is the real ball game. Put in simple terms, the question dividing the church is whether the Bible can be interpreted symbolically or only literally.

The "moderates" believe some account should be taken of the fact that mere men, at a particular time, were involved in the actual writing of the Bible. They say Biblical scholarship must use, selectively and carefully, some of the scholarly tools historians use.

This, they hold, is to clarify, not weaken the message. They hotly deny that a scholarly approach means they are denying Scripture as God's Word, or that they do not support the Lutheran confession that the Bible is the cornerstone of faith.

Harms suggests that if both sides come to such a council "with forgiveness in their hearts and Bibles in their hands," a debate could be reasonable rather than rancorous.

Reasonable or rancorous, there is no evidence that the very real fundamental chasm which has opened between the two sides is bridgeable. Question: Given that fact, is a rift necessarily unhealthy? Is "unity" really more important than clarity? If someone is right and someone is wrong on such a crucial question, why not let the issue be joined?

AFTER A YEAR'S lapse, a new Long Beach Area Directory of Churches and Synagogues is off the presses, compliments of Mottell's Mortuary and Dilday Family Funeral Directors.

Compiled through the assistance of the Long Beach Area Council of Churches as of July 1, 1974, the handsome 20-page booklet is really all-inclusive, and is a tribute to the thriving religious life of this community.

KOREAN EVANGELIST Rev. Sun Myung Moon is getting some national publicity again. He runs the "Unification Church," which claims 20,000 members in this country and two million worldwide, mostly in Japan and Korea.

FIRST DR.-IN CHURCH

The Garden Grove Community Church has the distinction of being the home of the world's first walk-in drive-in church. Thousands have worshipped in the privacy of their cars parked in the 22-acre garden-tentant ornamental campus—a ten-acre block of redwood forest, the freeway hub of Orange County.

TWELVE CHOIRS

"We are proud to announce the appointment of Don Fontana as full time Minister of Music," Dr. Schuller announced. Twelve choirs are being organized.

BOY CHOIR

Auditions are required for the Boy Choir which features the finest boy sopranos in the Southland. The choir will perform regularly on the national television program.

ORANGE COUNTY'S LARGEST SUN SCHOOL

Garden Grove Community Church is the home of the largest Sunday School in Orange County with over 1000 enrolled. It is directed by Rev. Kenneth Van Wijk, Minister of Education. Daily session classes are held at 9:30 and again at 11:15.

FIVE SINGLES GROUPS

Hundreds of single adults in five age groups meet regularly under the leadership of Rev. James Smiley (in addition to the existing club group).

ORANGE COUNTY YOUTH CENTER OPEN

The High School, Junior High, and Collegians meet, not only on Sunday mornings, but through the week in Orange County's Christian Youth Center building, a 25,000 square foot facility. Twenty-two high schools are represented in our High School Youth Department. Don Breneman, Youth Minister, reported.

THREE EXTRA SERVICES

In addition to the 9:30 and 11:15 service, three other Sunday Worship services are offered:

SKY HIGH CHURCH

A 7:00 a.m. service is held every Sunday at the Little Chapel in the Sky located at the top of the Interoceanic Tower of Hope. Lady morning worshippers have a spectacular view from the Santa Ana Mountains to Catalina Island. Dr. Henry Bellman is in charge.

At 8:45 every Sunday morning Dr. Raymond Beckwith, co-pastor with Dr. Schuller, conducts the first walk-in drive-in church service with choirs and trumpets.

CANDELIGHT GARDEN OF PRAYER

The closing service of the day is at 7:00 p.m., also a walk-in drive-in service. It is conducted by Rev. Calvin Kynbrant, Minister of Evangelism. Hundreds gather at the altar for prayers in candlelight at the close of every Sunday evening service. "Only God knows the miracles that happen here every Sunday night," the pastor announced.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR COUNSELING

Garden Grove Community Church is the first church in America that organized and trained its members to man a twenty-four hour live telephone counseling ministry which has been in continuous operation since September, 1968. For counseling, people need only dial the letters N-L-W 110-P-E.

FREWAY HUB OF ORANGE COUNTY

Garden Grove Community Church is located at Chapman and Lewis Streets in Garden Grove, near the Garden Grove and Santa Ana freeways, the freeway hub of Orange County.

a revelation of new truth beyond what is contained in the Bible, says Jesus was actually the "second Adam" and will take a bride upon His return to earth.

Moon's group owns a $800,000 training center in Tarrytown, N.Y. and is building others. Moon, 54, his young second wife and children have a 35-room mansion near Tarrytown.

When he was in Los Angeles earlier this year, several of his followers asked for publicity on these pages for his views. We said we would be happy to interview Moon, and ask our own questions, which is American journalistic practice. No interviews were allowed, we were told. We lost a certain amount of interest in his views, though we did run a brief, factual notice of his L.A. meetings.

IN THE LAST interview she gave before her death in August, Dr. Georgia Harkness, probably Methodist's foremost theologian, said: "My talent, if I have one, lies in making theology understandable to people."

A most important talent!

BILLY GRAHAM, who winds up his 25th anniversary meetings tonight at the Hollywood Bowl (7:30, free admission), has rejected suggestions that the Continuations Committee for the World Evangelical Congress held recently in Switzerland may build an organization to rival the World Council of Churches. (Two fifth of the evangelicals who came to Lausanne belong to churches that are members of the World Council.)

Still, Graham warned that if the World Council did not "carefully and prayerfully" heed the message of Lausanne, a rival group is a "possibility in the distant future."

THE WOLDS: Pastor Erling, Dr. Marge

Parish education conference Mon.

Pastor Erling Wold of St. Olaf Lutheran, Garden Grove, and wife, Dr. Marge Wold, co-authors of the book "What Do I Have to Do?—Break My Neck?" are featured speakers at the Long Beach-Lakewood Parish Education Rally Monday from 7-9:30 p.m. in Christ Lutheran Church, 6500 Stearns St.

Free and open to all interested, the Christian training conference is sponsored by seven area Lutheran churches—Bethel, Holy Trinity, Holy Spirit, Our Saviour's, St. Timothy, University and Christ. Six demonstration classes will be taught by Ruth Grisham, Marilyn Alexander, David Nell, Sarge Ostroski, Marcia Strahl and Dave Ellingson.

Clinics on major areas of parish education will be moderated by Pastor Bernhard Brethman, Karen Clements (committee chairlady), Pastor Elmer Christiansen, Hortense Storvick and the Wolds.

For the host church, Norman Cleveland is chairman, aided by Syd Dahl, Kay Willer and Betty Mestad. Child care will be available.

Reader disagrees with clergy on Nixon pardon

Religion Editor:

Many of the clergymen interviewed in "Most of Long Beach clerics critical of pardon" (IPT, Sept. 14) might consider the gospel of Luke: "Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful." Reading your article I was disappointed with most of them. I feel it is natural to desire public retribution for wrongdoing, yet I expected the clergy to lean a little more toward forgiveness.

It was interesting to note the major issue, that Nixon has not been publicly penitent. While it is true that he has not admitted any wrongdoing to the nation (only errors in judgment) it is also true that he may be living under a great burden of guilt, and may have repented privately.

Would God's justice be perfected by a public admission of guilt? Do we need a public confession to appease us?

Swaps detective badge for L.B. church ministry

By JOE SEGURA Staff Writer

The unlocked handcuffs, fastened to a wall plaque, were meant to demonstrate the Biblical message:

"If you continue in my word you shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

But, for Tom Hughes, the handcuffs are relics of a profession abandoned for a new calling—actively recruiting disciples for Christ.

The abandoned profession: 10 years service for the Long Beach Police Department, including five years as patrol officer and five years as a detective of residential and commercial burglary and of homicide.

The new calling: Minister of Discipleship, with responsibility for recruiting new members to First Brethren Church, at 3601 Linden Avenue.

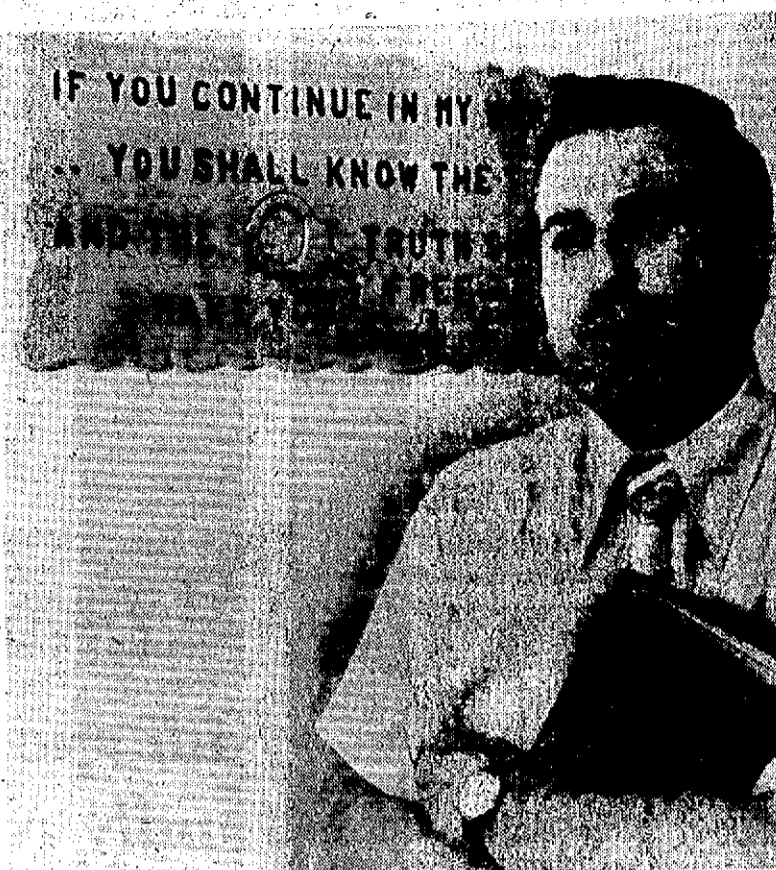

PASTOR HUGHES' responsibilities include implementation of a new correspondence Bible study program, development of a home-study Bible program and follow-up on new membership recruitments.

"In order to be an effective Christian, you must have the word," Hughes says of his new calling. "There must be continued study so that you can relate the word of God effectively to the new Christian."

Seven years ago, L.B.P.D. officer Hughes experienced his "new" Christianization when an epileptic in his faith, triggered by his son Tommy's foot birth defect (now cured), led him to First Brethren Church through the recommendation of his wife Joyce.

"I believed in God, in Jesus Christ, in the Virgin birth and in the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. But never had I asked Christ to be my personal Savior," Hughes recalls.

The Hughes family was visited by Rev. David Hocking, head pastor for First Brethren, and the Bible became Officer Hughes' new weapon to meet the personal challenges of his life.

"THERE WAS A tremendous change in Tom's life," Rev. Hocking recalls. "He's demonstrated great discipline. He's really learned the word of God. When he took his oral exam in June the board was very impressed with his thorough familiarity with the Bible."

Five short years later, Officer Hughes returned his detective's badge and pistol, arming himself only with the Bible.

During that time, however, he impressed his law enforcement colleagues with his integrity and good conduct.

"Tom was a fine gentleman, always willing to help those in need," recalls Sgt. J. J. Hurlburt. "When he was aware of the fact that a suspect didn't have funds for a lawyer he suggested that he speak to his minister."

In fact, Pastor Hughes' rookie ministry includes several relationship-which began during his days as a peace officer, including Robert Peeler and Don Reed, who turned state's evidence against Mrs. Eloise Poole, who has been convicted in the murder conspiracy case involving her husband. Hughes met the two men during his investigation of the alleged plot, his last case for homicide.

Pastor Hughes' main objective now is to aggressively teach the word of Christ which he feels will assist men to battle the temptations of sin.

"SIN IS ONLY falling short of God's standard—which is perfection," he explains.

"The commandment says, 'Thou shalt not kill.' According to Jesus Christ, 'Whoever is angry with his brother, without cause, shall be in danger of the judgement,'" he adds.

"That's why it is important to become a child of God because we are all sinners."

That's the main thrust of the message from First Brethren Church's newest Christian recruiter.

POSITIVE THINKING

by Norman Vincent Peale

Storms bring out eagles

I once heard a guide in the Canadian Northwest make an unforgettable statement. He said "Storms bring out the eagles; little birds take to cover." As with eagles, so with humans. Little men try to run from storms and sometimes are smashed by them. But big men ride storms to better things.

When things get too soft, it may seem just fine but all the time YOU are softening up. And that's bad, very bad, for then trouble begins. Ever hear of the Penobscot sea gulls from down-East in Maine? They live in rocky crags of Penobscot Bay and are said to be the most beautiful sea gulls in the world. The aerodynamics of their flight—side-slipping and wheeling downwind—is something to behold. And they have always been pretty smart gulls. They teach their young to forge their own food and be strong self-reliant sea gulls like their forefathers. They really are tough birds. But then something happened. They softened up.

It seems that every winter these sea gulls go to Florida for food. According to the story I heard, (I would credit the author if I knew it) a squall once struck the Penobscot gulls in migration forcing them off course and down on Conch Island near St. Augustine. There they were made welcome by hospitable southern sea gulls.

NEXT MORNING the visitors from Maine expected to be invited to their hosts' fishing grounds where they could test their mettle in the struggle for food. But the native sea gulls didn't move. Instead they just sat around indolently waiting. Then presently calling their northern visitors to join them, they flapped into the air and came down a hundred yards away around a fleet of shrimp boats where they gorged themselves on scraps of fish and shrimp thrown overboard.

The down-East gulls were amazed and delighted. Never had they known anything like this. Never did they have it so good. Imagine it! Food without work! It appealed to that laziness which apparently is in birds same as in men. When summer came the flock of northern sea gulls did not fly back to Maine but sat indolently on Conch Island and grew fat, almost too fat to fly.

Then the fishing fleet went away and the softening up gulls did not know what to do. They began to have it real rough. The young had not been taught to seek and struggle for their own food. Their plaintive cries brought no help and many died of starvation. So went the parable of the softening up sea gulls.

It seems that men, no less than sea gulls, need to grapple with difficulties to condition them for survival in this world. A really smart person never gets to a point where he is unwilling to go out and struggle. If you are having rough going don't whine and whimper. Instead cultivate the philosophy of difficulty: for every difficulty contains some inherent good you can utilize to move forward.

At luncheon with half a dozen men conversation turned on the attitude that hardship is a bad thing. One man was asked to what he credited his success. "Poverty," he replied, "poverty was and still is my motivation. My father was a drunk, a kind-hearted lovable father but a drunk. We literally had nothing—lived in a shack and my mother took in washing. I can see her yet working herself to death. We kids were hand-me-downs. I grew to hate poverty like nobody's business."

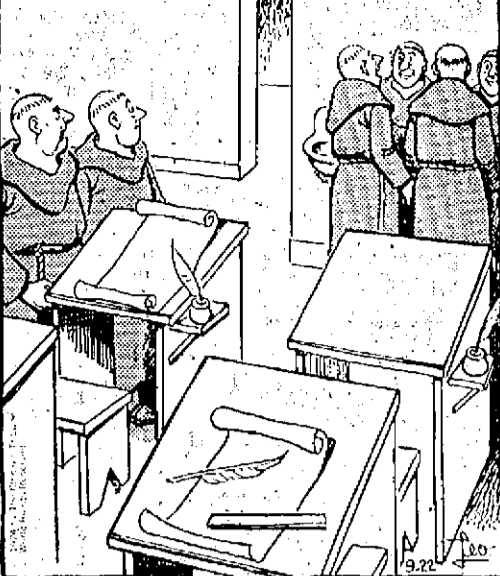

Others round the table, likewise, credited hardship, struggle and tough conditions for what they had become. "But you are all rich men. What about your own kids?" I asked.

THE ANSWERS ran like this: "They've got it worse than we had it because they have too much." "Yeah," chimed in another, "if we don't watch out they'll become a bunch of softies and never amount to anything." "It's tough on character to have it too good," said another.

Underscore that truth, "Storms bring out eagles—little birds take to cover." Every person has eagle characteristics built within. Storms help to grow big wings.

Life can be pretty tough, really tough. But something in human nature is tougher still.

CHURCH HUMOR

"I swear they spend more time at that holy water font than they do at their desks!"

Priest stayed same, became 'different'

SANDERSTEAD, England (AP) — By staying the same, the Rev. Peter John Morgan has become a "different" style of priest in the present-day Roman Catholic Church.

He wears a cassock, a black flat hat, speaks a dead language, venerates a four-centuries dead pope and defies the wishes of the present pontiff, Pope Paul VI.

In a changing world, Father Morgan refuses to change. Rejecting the modernized liturgy and defying Vatican directives to put it in local languages, he sticks to the traditional Mass in Latin.

He has counterparts scattered around the world, including the United States—traditionalists who have by not changing have become rebels in a church that changed.

The traditionalists are willing to spend time, energy and money for their cause. And there are thousands of them, here and there, who don't like the new ways.

Supporters of Father Morgan provide him with a house here, on the outskirts of London, pay him a salary with expenses to freewheel all over southern England to say the old mass.

Leads aging

Rev. Donald F. Clingan, executive of the Division of Social and Health Services of the Christian Church—Disciples of Christ, first president and now director of the National Interfaith Coalition on Aging, will speak Sunday, 10:45 a.m., in Bixby Knolls Christian Church, 1240 E. Carson St.

Emmy for series

"This Is The Life," half-hour dramatic television series sponsored by The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, has been awarded an Emmy by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Yom Kippur to climax Holy Days

The holiest day on the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur, the solemn day of atonement, will be observed here and by Jews throughout the world from sundown Wednesday to sundown Thursday.

Climaxing the 10 days of repentance which began with the Jewish New Year, the 2,500-year-old observance is marked by fasting and prayer. The opening liturgy is called the Kol Nidre, a prayer for forgiveness written in the 8th century.

The holiday ends with a final blast from the shofar, the ram's horn. The central significance of Yom Kippur lies in its emphasis upon the nature of man as a responsible being, capable of change and redemption through his own acts, and never irrevocably lost.

Commenting on the term "Yom Kippur War" associated with last year's Middle East conflict, Rabbi Wolf Kaelter of Temple Israel said: "How truly tragic that the day of atonement, reconciliation and forgiveness should be associated by millions with bloody conflict, relentless resentment and fervent destructiveness."

"The sound of the shofar," he added, "summons us to the only war that deserves the characterization of holy—the confrontation of self in full awareness of the standards and values of our tradition which the Holy Days convey so vividly."

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Needs... situate your realization that there is no easy route, as challenges develop through the coming year. You triumph in subjective, spiritual experience rather than in material affairs.

Aries (March 21-April 19): You've got nearly everything going for you. Take a normal and prompt part in community activities for favored solitary pursuits. Don't overdo anything.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Restless but short-lived mood of impulse or temper needn't lead you into spoiling a good thing. Don't try to "keep up" with a neighbor; stay ahead by being yourself.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Younger people and their problems catch your attention. Reconsider what you really want to achieve and whether you can through present methods.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Be selective in choosing a few people with which to spend the day. Tackle no more than you had originally planned. The goal now is simplicity.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Recognize detours or deviations from expected routines before plunging into action. Seek a conservative approach and let others have a fair share.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): General conditions improve. Benefits may arise from intelligent compromise, sensible adjustments. Take great care and nothing for granted if you drive.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Contemplating the day's events gives you perspective. Select a moderate course, then do what is expected of you with grace and elegance. Rest early.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Don't be surprised if your ideas clash head-on with the plans of others. Soothe ruffled tempers as best you can, but proceed firmly.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Fresh opportunity abounds for the eligible as you complete traditional observances and visits. Be brief, linger nowhere, keep moving.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Today is rather "lifty." Be punctual, but wait for arrangements to be made before settling on particular action. Your contribution should be modest and unassuming.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Those who know you well see you have an easier day. You encounter the unfamiliar with enough rough-going to detract a bit from the fun. Be reasonable in your presentations.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Keep business and commercial activity completely out of your scheme. Concentrate on making life simple and comfortable, your home and family peaceful.

ABC faces stiff competition

By BOB MARTIN
TV-Radio Editor

ABC got off to an awful start in the network ratings game a week ago on the first Saturday night of the new television season.

Tonight, it introduces another new series, "Nakia," from 10 to 11, but it might not help.

The debut of "Nakia" was delayed a week because "Kung Fu" opened with a special two-hour episode. And David Carradine and the "Kung Fu" gang no doubt are wishing their series had been left on Thursday night.

Saturday night's competition is enough to make anyone go on a rampage.

With "The New Land" from 8 to 9 and "Kung Fu" from 9 to 11 last Saturday night, ABC gained only a 12.0 rating and a 21.4 per cent of the audience, compared with NBC's 20.7 and 36.8 per cent and CBS' 21.3 and 37.9 per cent.

The CBS lineup of five outstanding comedy shows on Saturday evenings is almost unbeatable, and NBC presented a strong movie, "Kluge," along with its "Emergency!" series, which has a number of loyal followers. Tonight's NBC movie offering, "Oklahoma Crude," starring George C. Scott and Faye Dunaway, will be even a bigger hit on TV than "Kluge," I would imagine, so "Nakia" is in for trouble on its opener.

The new show, shot in New Mexico, stars Robert Forster (remember "Ban-yon"?), as a Navajo Indian deputy sheriff and Arthur Kennedy as Sheriff Sam Jericho. Set in the Southwest of today, it rates more as a crime drama than as a Western.

WITH THE MOVIE "Fiddler on the Roof" taking up its entire primetime schedule last Sunday night, ABC enjoyed its best evening of the week in the ratings rat race.

"Fiddler," No. 15 on the Nielsen popularity list for the week, brought ABC a 21.1 rating and 34.5 per cent of the audience for the night, topping CBS, at 17.9 and 29.4 per cent, but trailing NBC, at 22.3 and 36.7 per cent.

NBC's "Wonderful World of Disney" and "Columbo" beat "Fiddler" and clobbered CBS' "Apple's Way" and "Kojak," which has been shifted from Wednesdays. Tomorrow night, "The Sonny Comedy Revue," starring Sonny Bono, makes its bow on ABC from 8 to 9. Cher, of course, is gone, but Sonny will have Sally Struthers, Edward G. Robinson and the Jackson 5 to keep him company on his opener.

ABC again will present a blockbuster on its "Sunday Night Movie" — the TV premiere of "Thunderball," a James Bond adventure starring Sean Connery as 007. It will air from 9 to 11:45.

Telly Savalas, as Kojak, won't have Peter Falk to face again, but his competition on NBC will be Dennis Weaver in "McCloud." The latter is two hours, and its competition the second hour from CBS will be "Mannix," making its eighth season debut.

"Mannix," starring Mike Connors, didn't air last Sunday because "Kojak" opened with a two-hour program.

"HEE HAW," country music-and-comedy series starring Buck Owens and Roy Clark, moves to Channel 11 this season, starting at 8 tonight. The hour-long nationally syndicated show follows

"The Lawrence Welk Show" on KTTV. Loretta Lynn is scheduled as a guest on "Hee Haw" tonight.

CHANNEL 9 will bring back "The World at War," an Emmy-winning documentary series, on Sundays from 6 to 7 p.m., starting tomorrow. Laurence Olivier narrates the 26-part series.

"THE EPISCOPAL Dilemma: Should Women Be Priests?" is the topic for the first 1974-75 program on ABC News' "Directions" series. It will air from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Sunday on Channel 7.

"WHAT'S GOING ON Here — the Troubled American Economy" will be presented as a CBS News special from 6 to 7 p.m. Sunday on Channel 2.

"ELEMENTARY News," which airs at 7:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday on Channel 9, has three new reporters this season: Reggi Johnson, 8; Aaron Newhoff, 10, and Bob Munoz, 9.

Jordan grids no match for Eisenhower, 27-11

By TIM BUZBEE

Eisenhower High jumped off to a 20-0 lead and Long Beach Jordan never recovered as the Eagles went on to score a convincing 27-11 non-league football victory Friday night at Orange Show Stadium in San Bernardino.

It marked the third year in a row Eisenhower has subdued the Panthers, who had to settle for Allan Parks' 14-yard touchdown run in the final period and Bronco Barbic's 36-yard field goal late in the second quarter.

the payoff pass was two yards.

Jordan finally put together a successful TD drive in the final period, steaming 68 yards in six plays with Parks racing the last 14 yards. Larry Reynolds' run accounted for the two-point conversion.

The host team enjoyed an advantage on the ground, outrushing Jordan 125-80.

The Panthers held a slight edge in passing, 78 yards to 75.

Jordan returns to action Friday when it travels to Downey.

Sophomore Mike Peters, playing his first game of contact football, directed the Wilson attack. Peters was six-of-nine for 30 yards but two of his passes were intercepted.

Dyer's replacement, Richard Webb, carried 16 times for 48 yards. But the offensive line did not adequately protect either back—Peters was sacked three times, once in the end zone.

"Peters did a good job," said Wilson coach Owen Dixon. "But he doesn't have the experience. Our offensive line was not good. But we'll be all right."

Wilson's running attack netted a microscopic 51 yards. The Bruins managed only two first downs in the first half.

West Torrance controlled most of the first half but Wilson was the first team to score.

Halted on the Torrance eight, Wilson's soccer-style kicker George Leffinger booted a 25-yard field goal to put the Bruins ahead, 3-0, at halftime.

Early in the third period, a Peters' aerial was picked off by Cory Hons. Three plays later, on the Bruin 22, speedy flanker Steve Zak turned the corner, hurdled a would-be Bruin tackler and scored.

Tim Gibson converted and West led, 7-3.

On the ensuing kickoff, Wilson gained possession on its 13. But Peters was sacked on his one and the next play the quarterback was dropped in his end zone for a safety.

Gorman and Ashe advance

Third-seeded Arthur Ashe survived some serving problems in the second set to defeat Jaime Fillol of Chile 6-2, 6-4 Friday night in the third round of the $100,000 Pacific Southwest open tennis tournament.

In a second night match, sixth-seeded Tom Gorman outfought Roy Emerson 6-7, 6-4, 7-6.

Emerson won the opening set with a 7-4 victory in the tiebreakers then lost the third set and the match when he dumped the ball into the net on the last two points in a 7-5 tiebreaker victory by Gorman.

In afternoon action, fifth-seeded Roscoe Tanner, with a 7-4 tiebreaker victory, defeated 10th-ranked John Alexander 7-5, 7-6.

Raul Ramirez, seeded ninth, continued to play well as he defeated Bob Kreiss 6-3, 6-1. In the only other singles match, Jeff Borowiak upset 15th-seeded Brian Gottfried 6-4, 6-3.

CHICAGO—Forward Bob Love showed up at camp, ending fears he would hold out in an effort to renegotiate his five-year contract. However, four veterans failed to report. They are newly acquired center Nate Thurmond, forward Cliff Lewis, guards Ron Smith and Matt Gook.

UOP's Willard Harrell is just as deadly It's like Russian Roulette for 49ers tonight

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

STOCKTON—For one Long Beach State coach, facing Willard Harrell and the University of Pacific is like playing Russian Roulette.

The Tigers will attempt to launch Harrell against the 49ers tonight at 7:30 when the clubs collide in a Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. encounter. There will be no radio reports.

Harrell is the key to tonight's contest.

A 5-foot-10, 175-pound senior speed-ster, Harrell has rushed for 324 yards this season to move within 375 of Dick Bass' school record of 2,715.

As a junior, Harrell led the PCAA in rushing and was the nation's No. 1 all-purpose runner (rushing, kickoff and punt returns).

"Pacific plays Russian Roulette with Harrell," reports 49er linebacker coach John Pease. "Spin the chamber, click, spin the chamber, click, spin the chamber, click."

"It might go 'click,' 20 times," continues Pease, "but they know that sooner or later it's going to go 'bang.'"

Harrell has gone "bang" twice this season and on both occasions it killed Pacific's opponent.

In a 21-0 season-opening victory over Sacramento State Harrell provided the crusher with the longest TD run in PCAA history—81 yards. He came back last week with a 44-yard scamper in the final 1:38 to give the Tigers a 17-14 decision over Texas-El Paso.

Despite Harrell's achievements, the 49ers won't be on a "search and destroy" mission tonight.

"If you try to kill Harrell he'll end up killing you," warns Pease. "He thrives on people who over-react. We want to try to contain him, use technique to keep him under control."

"If he carries the ball 20 times and we never let him get more than nine yards on a play we can beat them."

The 49ers will have to do that while keeping an eye on Pacific's "sneaky" quarterback Steve Towne, from Long Beach, has completed 10 of 22 passes, and he is averaging 19.3 yards per connection with nine of the tosses netting first downs.

Long Beach coach Wayne Howard is hopeful that his club can pressure the Pacific defense.

"We didn't get to do a lot of things we would have liked against Northern Illinois because of the wind and poor field condition," says Howard, "but we're hopeful we'll be able to open up against Pacific."

LBCC at Citrus Tereschuk hurt, but plays tonight

By PAUL McLEOD
Staff Writer

Silence has been the word at Long Beach City College this week.

As the Vikings prepared for their first game of the season against Citrus College tonight, there was speculation that quarterback Pete Tereschuk would not be able to answer the opening whistle for tonight's 7:30 encounter at Citrus Stadium.

Tereschuk has been plagued by an infected finger on his throwing hand. While members of the Viking football staff made little mention of the injury during the week, sources on the team say the finger bothered the sophomore during the early part of the week, but hampered his performance little since.

The injury will not affect his throwing against Citrus, according to head coach Gary Jacobsen.

"Pete told us that he wanted to play even if the finger was hurt," said Jacobsen. "The finger has healed sufficiently that it won't bother him when he's on the field."

Citrus head coach John Strycula acknowledged he had heard the 5-9, 180 pound sophomore was injured, but was unaware of the type of injury.

"Somebody told me he had hurt his leg," he said. "I don't know. Is that true?"

"I don't know if we can stop Long Beach if he's in there," concluded Strycula.

With Tereschuk at quarterback, the Vikings are expected to open offensively with either sophomores Mike Mallet or Jessie Drummer at tailback and Randy Woodard; also a sophomore, at fullback. Michael Willis rounds out the backfield at wingback.

Citrus will counter with an offense composed of Strycula's son, Bill, at quarterback, Edward White at fullback and Roy Prather at the half. White raced for 107 yards on 21 carries last week when Citrus tied Mt. San Antonio College, 14-14.

Bill Strycula has a fine receiver in tight end Gary Costello at 6-2, 190 pounds. Tereschuk will have a choice of five receivers to throw to. Fighting for a starting end position are Dennis Byrd, Leon Washington, John Howard, Ed Gillies, and Dave Nester.

NORSE NOTES: Tonight's game will be broadcast by the Radio and TV Guild of Long Beach City College on community radio station KLFN-FM (88.1). Air time for the pregame show is 7 p.m. The Guild will broadcast all Viking games this season. The J.C. Grid Wire national junior college rating assn., has predicted eight of its top 20 selections at the end of the season will be from California. Those teams were Fresno, Orange Coast, Bakersfield, Fullerton, El Camino, Redding, Golden West.

and Grossmont. LBCC plays four of those teams this season. The Vikings will play the same schedule next season with home fields being reversed. In other games involving Metropolitan Conference teams, El Camino hosts Laney College in an afternoon game scheduled to begin at 1:30, while 7:30 games have Cerritos traveling to Bakersfield, Pasadena playing at Mt. San Antonio, Valley hosting L.A. Southwest, and Pierce going to West L.A. Viking defensive coordinator Roy Woodbright feels he'll be looking at (win) offenses the next two weeks. "Cerritos resembles Citrus in so many ways," commented Woodbright. "Only Citrus has smaller tackles, the smallest we'll face this season." Woodbright added that the average offensive tackle in the Metropolitan Conference weighs close to 250 pounds.

College mismatches

Combined News Services

This is the week that several college football coaches wish that wasn't.

Northwestern's Johnny Pont and Oregon State's Dee Andros to name two, and you may as well include Navy's George Welsh and Wisconsin's John Jardine.

This is, for the most part, Christians vs. Lions week. Mismatch city. Women and children should not be permitted to see the printed results and the faint of heart are advised to steer clear.

Ohio State at home to Oregon State is a prime example. The Buckeyes are favored by a scant six touchdowns against a team which has been devastated by such heralded powers as Syracuse (23-15) and Georgia (48-35).

"NOBODY COMES easy these days," observed Buckeye coach Woody Hayes, trying to keep a straight face, "especially when you're highly rated." Then Hayes turned serious. "It would make their season if they could beat us in Columbus but we're simply not going to let that happen."

"Ohio State is probably the best team in the country," was all Andros could manage to say, cognizant of the fact the Buckeyes rolled up 486 yards in thumping Minnesota last week. Then he went off for a helping of tranquilizers.

Notre Dame, which shares top-ranked billing with the Buckeyes—depending upon which poll you subscribe to—is a prohibitive 30-point pick over Northwestern.

"We still don't know how our secondary will respond against a good passing team," said the Irish's Ara Parseghian. Probably pretty well.

"I think we have a chance to win," counters Northwestern's Pont. "The problem is getting the message across to the players." It is not known what the players think outside of their impending health status.

NOTRE DAME coming off a 31-7 rout of Georgia Tech 11 days ago, will be without halfback Art Best, who has a broken jaw. Halfback Al Semeul has a fractured thumb but will play today.

Northwestern is coming off a 41-7 drubbing administered by Michigan State.

The Cornhuskers are expected to do both and rank as 15-point choices.

UCLA tabbed by 20 over Hawkeyes today

By GARY RAUSCH
Staff Writer

IOWA CITY — As an Iowa player, Bob Commings surmounted many obstacles. Hawkeye football fans are hopeful he will enjoy a carryover as head coach.

"Our goal this season is to win a game. Then we'll try to win another," Commings has repeated while criss-crossing the state since replacing Frank Lautenbur nine months ago.

The Hawkeyes are expected to extend their losing streak to 13 games when they host UCLA today (11:30 a.m., PDT). Oddsmakers are favoring the Bruins by 2-0 points to present new coach Dick Vermeil with his first victory.

The fifth Hawkeye to return to his alma mater as head coach, Commings has tasted more victories than defeats in his career. He was 173-pound guard on Iowa's Rose Bowl championship team of 1956. One year later the Big Ten's smallest lineman won all-conference honors and was the Hawkeyes' most valuable player.

In seven seasons at Struthers, O., High School, Commings posted a 50-16-4 record. At famed Washington High in Massillon, O., his slate was 44-5-1 with one state title.

Why did he return to Iowa, a school which has enjoyed only four winning seasons in his 16-year absence.

"I love Iowa and I love young people. I really have a feel for young people," said the native Ohioan. "When I was a player here we had some good athletes from out of state, but we could have never won without the Iowa kids."

COMMINGS is a no-nonsense type. To him football is a vehicle to maturity and rules such as hair grooming, are not factors in winning or losing.

"How could I possibly be opposed to long hair?" said the bald-headed 41-year-old with a laugh. "The length of hair is not a criterion for measuring a young man's integrity. I sure don't want any short-haired freaks on my team."

Commings begins his tenure with a suicidal early schedule—Michigan, UCLA, Penn State and USC. Surprisingly, he is most wary of the Bruins.

"Of those first four teams we play, UCLA has the edge," Commings said Friday. "The Bruins' personnel is startlingly offensively and defensively. With the exception of Ohio State, nobody on our schedule is better than UCLA."

UPPERMOST in Iowa's defensive game plan is UCLA quarterback John Sciarra.

"I really don't think we can shut him out," Commings continued. "To beat UCLA, Sciarra must be stopped, but I believe the best we can do is contain or restrict him."

Despite the favoritism, Vermeil is not taking the Hawkeyes lightly.

"Off the hard-fought loss (24-7) to Michigan last week, I'd say Iowa is a lot better than the team UCLA beat a year ago (55-18)," he said upon arrival in Iowa City. "To win we're going to have to play good, tough football."

VERMEIL admitted his club "will not wait so long to use the pass" as it did in the 17-17 tie at Tennessee two weeks ago.

Changes in the Bruin lineup find Carl Zaby replacing Wendell Tyler at one running back; Steve Monahan for Wally Henry at flanker; Pat Sweetland for Cliff Frazier at one defensive tackle; Miliken High graduate Tim Tennigkell for Bob Crawford at the other tackle and Gene Settles over Terry Tautolo at inside linebacker.

"Wendell was so tight and nervous in Knoxville he had trouble hanging onto the football and he hasn't gotten over it," Vermeil confided.

Henry is 100 per cent

Los Alamitos hosts Servite tonight

Los Alamitos coach Jim Rodarte will find out how good his Griffins are tonight when they host Servite at Cerritos College, 8 p.m.

Rodarte says his club is bothered by inexperience. The Griffin pass defense should learn quickly. Servite, one of the pre-league favorites to win the CIF title, has a strong aerial attack.

Other games tonight include:

Servite vs. Los Alamitos at Cerritos College; Cypress vs. Laguna at West; San Jose vs. San Jose at La Palma; Edison vs. San Diego at Bakersfield; Santa Ana vs. Santa Ana at Garden Grove; Carroll vs. La Sierra at Monte Vista; Schurr at Pioneer; Gardena at San Fernando.

Credit new defense for upset of Miami

Compiled from 1 P-T sources

The New England Patriots were 5-9 in Chuck Fairbanks' first year as head coach in 1973 but they won with offense. The team gave up 32 touchdowns and the defense against the rush was last in the National Football League.

Miami's arrival for last Sunday's opening game figured to put new stress on the "stack" defense that Fairbanks and assistant coach Hank Bullough installed during the training season, a 3-4 with three down linemen and four linebackers.

Defense played no small part in the Patriots' surprising 34-21 victory over the two-time Super Bowl champs. The new alignment held Miami to 89 yards rushing, compared to its 180.1-yard average in 1973 and the Patriots' normal yield of 203.6 yards per game last season.

Miami was without the services of Mercury Morris, speedy outside threat, due to a knee injury. His replacement, Jim Kilek, was limited to 10 yards on 11 carries. Larry Csonka, the 1,000-yard man, made 62 yards on 17 carries, scoring twice from close up.

"The stack is a little different than the Miami 53 defense," said Bullough. "We decided to make the change to take advantage of our personnel in an attempt to improve our defense against the rush. It gives you the same look at all times but you become flexible because of the many things you can do from it."

DESPITE THE DEFENSIVE TREND of many teams going to a three-man rush with five defensive backs or four linebackers in obvious passing situations, Dallas sticks to the 4-3-4.

But Cowboys coach Tom Landry does make a change. He pulls defensive ends Pat Toomay and Larry Cole and inserts 6-5, 262-pound Harvey Martin and 6-8, 206-pound Ed (too tall) Jones.

"It's our Thunder and Lightning defense," says Toomay. "Harvey is Thunder and Too Tall is Lightning."

INSIDE THE NFL

The Cowboys, coming off a surprisingly one-sided 24-0 victory over Atlanta, meet the Philadelphia Eagles Monday night before a sellout crowd at Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium.

Landry, reacting to comments on his team's devastating pass rush in the victory at Atlanta, said: "Roman Gabriel isn't bothered too much by the pass rush. He's like a tree back there. He stands strong and you bounce off him. He's always been that way. A rush very seldom fazes Gabriel. He just stands in there and throws the ball."

THE SECOND WEEKEND of the 1974 National Football League regular season is highlighted by three interconference games, plus the NFC Eastern Division match between St. Louis and Washington, the schedule's only encounter between teams which won their opening games.

ST. LOUIS-NFC (1-0) AT WASHINGTON-NFC (1-0) — Last season, after Cardinals and Redskins each won opener—as they did last week, St. Louis outscored Washington 32-27 as Jim Hart passed for 289 yards and DONNY ANDERSON had 3 TDs. Last Sunday, Cardinals defense shackled Philadelphia's passing game in final seconds for a 13-0 victory, and Washington edged New York Giants 13-10 in Eastern Division games. St. Louis' only TD vs. Eagles was 4-yard pass from JIM HART to DONNY ANDERSON to climax 80-yard drive in 2nd period which erased 0-3 deficit. KEN WILLARD'S 61 yards on 10 carries lifted his lifetime total to 5,591; he needs 9 yards to become NFL's 10th player to rush for 6,000. Cardinals defense did not yield TD for first time in 22 games. Cardinals will start No. 3 draft choice DT Steve George for DAVE BUTZ (knee). Washington offense sluggish in opener and CB MIKE BASS' 28-yard TD return with interception was difference. LARRY BROWN rushed 20 for 75, including 5-yard TD. LARRY SMITH 19 for 53, who led defense. Washington leads series 28-24-1, including 6 wins in last 7 meetings.

NEW ORLEANS-NFC (0-1) RAMS (1-0) — 70,000 expected to greet 1974 Western champion Rams as they open their home season against division rival Saints. Rams started with a 17-10 win over Denver in last week's only interconference game, while Saints fell victim to San Francisco 17-13 when blocked punt set up 49ers' winning score in final minutes. Saints QB Archie Manning's 16 completions in 28 attempts for 149 yards included 4-yard TD pass to rookie WR Joel Parker, who caught 4 for 28. Defense limited Denver to 156 yards and sacked passer 6 for 40 yards. Also stopped Broncos on all 13 third-down situations.

MIAMI-AFC (0-1) AT BUFFALO-AFC (1-0) — Dolphins' opening day loss to Patriots 34-21 and Bills' dramatic 21-20 win over Raiders in the last 26 seconds kindled Buffalo title hopes. Dolphins enjoy 11-4-1 series lead, winning both games last year, 27-6 and 17-0 for early clinching. Nov. 18, of third straight East title. Second game will be played at Miami, Nov. 17. Both RB MERCURY MORRIS and RB NICK BUONICCONTI missed Miami's opener. Coach DON SHULAS' reason: "Last year we were there. They beat us up front both ways." Although O.J. SIMPSON suffered an ankle injury in the final minute of the first half and sat out the rest of the game in Buffalo, a sellout crowd thrilled to the Bills' closing surge to win on a pair of TD passes from JOE FERGUSON to AHMAD RASHAD. O.J. was the top rusher with 78 yards on 12 carries and Rashad caught 5 for 68 yards and the 2 TDs.

MINNESOTA-NFC (1-0) AT DETROIT-NFC (0-1) — Since 1968, Vikings have defeated Lions 12 consecutive times. In Minnesota's 32-17 win over Green Bay last week, RB CHUCK FOREMAN had 3 TDs (rushing of 18, 1, 3 yards) to tie club record while running 22 for 67, catching 5 for 32. OSCAR REED added 64 on 17 carries, caught 4 for 27. FRANK TARKENTON hit 14 of 23 for 116 yards. Career completions now 2,472 for runnerup spot behind JOHN ENGLISH 2,530. RB Bobby Bryant has broken arm and Jackie Wallace will start. Detroit lost to Chicago 17-9 in opener. Bill Musson completed 13 of 28 for 166 yards, 2 interceptions. Steve Owens ran 15 for 48, including 4-yard TD. DT Jim Mitchell scored TD on recovery of blocked punt in end zone.

NEW ENGLAND-AFC (1-0) AT NEW YORK GIANTS-NFC (0-1) — Patriots, who bowed to Giants 16-10 in 1970 in previous meeting with New York, coming off 34-21 victory over defending Super Bowl champion Miami. Giants were 13-10 loser to Washington last week. QB JIM PLUNKETT, RBs SAM CUNNINGHAM, MACK HERRON sparked attack vs. Dolphins. Patriots sacked Miami QB Bob Griese 5 times. Herron top rusher with 18 for 88, 1 TD, plus 70 on KO returns, 4 on PR, 24 as receiver for total of 186 yards. Cunningham ran 21 for 87 yards, 1 TD. New York rookie RB DOUG KOTAR rushed 14 for 43, including 6-yard TD; Joe Dawkins 7 for 40. Ron Johnson ran 12 for 9 yards in first action.

SAN DIEGO-AFC (0-1) AT CINCINNATI-AFC (1-0) — Bengals coming off strong performance in opening game, 33-7 win over Cleveland for 13th straight at home, and Charges encouraged by 41-yard offense despite defeat by Oilers 21-14. Bengals held Browns' MIKE PHIPPS to 3 net yards passing, sacking the Cleveland QB 5 times. RB ESSEX JOHNSON aggravated knee injury in one-play appearance. QB KEN ANDERSON, AFC leader in lowest interception percentage last 2 years, completed 9 of 17 for 178 yards, 2 TDs and 0 int. WR ISAAC CURTIS off on right foot in 2nd year with 5 catches for 47 yards and 1 TD. K HORST MUEHLHANN'S 32-yard FG was his 10th straight over 20-yard mark. Bengals now 2-0 on ground, 196 in air in losing effort at Astrodom where QB DAN FOUTS hit with 13 of 26, including 1 TD. WR Gary Garrison who caught 4 for 80 yards. RB SID EDWARDS hit the 100-yard club on 16 carries.

SAN FRANCISCO-NFC (1-0) AT ATLANTA-NFC (0-1) — 49ers, winless in preseason, got off with a 17-13 victory over New Orleans as LB WILLIE HALL blocked a Saints' punt, WINDLAN HALL picked up ball and ran 6 yards to the New Orleans 8 and rookie RB Sammy Johnson ran over from there with 1-35 intercepting. WR JOE REED went 7 of 15 for 56 yards, had 3 interceptions. WR DAN ABRAMOWICZ's 1 reception ran consecutive game catch streak to 32 (4 from LANCE ALWORTH record 98). K BRUCE GOSSETT'S 5 points lifted him past Sam Baker into 7th place on NFL scoring list with 10 points. Atlanta bowed to Dallas 24-0 and coach NORM VAN BROCKLIN ran QB PAT SULLIVAN and coach BOB LEE'S 4 of 22 for 28 yards, 1 interception. Sullivan hit 4 of 8 for 41 yards. Top rusher DAVE HAMPTON, out of opener with deep thigh injury, may be back to pick up ground game which got 64 last week.

SHIFT QUEEN MARY OPEN TO REC PARK

The third Long Beach Queen Mary Open golf tournament will be moved to Recreation Park next month because the host course, El Dorado, has encountered trouble with its greens.

"The move is only for this year," said El Dorado pro Monty Blodgett, the tournament chairman, "then we will return to my course. I have been assured that everything will be done to have El Dorado a championship-quality course by 1975."

The 72-hole tournament runs Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 16-19, and carries a $22,500 purse. A pro-celebrity-amateur 18-hole event will be held on Sunday, Oct. 20.

Arne Dokka of Pauma Valley will defend his title against such outstanding young pros as Bob Risch, Greg Trompas, Bill Fiel, Jim Petralia, Ray Arino and Dave Newquist.

Blodgett says he is certain that some touring pros will enter. Twenty have played the last two years but rarely have they sent in their entries earlier than one week before the tournament.

At Bakersfield Cerritos' first test tonight

By DAVE WIELENGA Staff Writer

It's only the beginning of the season but Cerritos College's first test of the football semester — a 7:30 battle at Bakersfield tonight — looks more like a final exam.

The Renegades, sixth-ranked in the state, are big, strong, fast and experienced — assets which led them to a 44-7 victory over San Mateo in their opener.

Cerritos coach Ernie Johnson will counter with a 17th-rated contingent that is laden with freshmen and inexperienced sophomores. "We'll learn a great deal," he admitted.

"Against a team like Bakersfield you have to lay it on the line," Johnson continued. "We're smaller so the players must perform up to and above their ability. It's a matter of personal discipline."

Twenty-one-year-old Duane Matthews will open at quarterback, and although he hasn't played in two seasons Johnson is hopeful that his maturity will have a settling influence on the offense, which has only four returning starters.

Matthews will be going to the air with more regularity than Falcon quarterbackbacks of the past few seasons, according to Johnson, but will still direct a primarily running team. He'll have his hands full against a Bakersfield defense that permitted only 26 rushing yards last week and contributed two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and a safety — all of which were converted to scores.

Defensively the Falcons will face a front line whose members range in weight from 220 to 272 pounds and a pair of strong, fast running backs in David Turner and Rob McCombs, who scored two TDs last week. Bakersfield rolled up 410 yards total offense Saturday.

Only linebacker Terry Tolliver (190 pounds) and tackle Rich Brown (215) were defensive starters last season for the Falcons, and Johnson estimates that he'll have five or six freshmen in the starting lineup.

"We're going to learn and improve," he said. "We're going to have to if we want to win."

Bakersfield holds a series advantage of 6-5 over the Falcons after notching a 35-23 win last season.

Hall of Famer George hit with assault suit

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill George, former Chicago Bear and Ram linebacker, was sued Friday for $350,000 by a college professor who claimed George attacked him.

George's estranged wife, Lucy, also filed for divorce Friday.

George, 44, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in July, declined comment.

Loren Long, 47, in a suit filed in Circuit Court, contended that George knocked him unconscious last Sunday in Mrs. George's home in Crystal Lake. The suit also said George and his son, Leo, 16, assaulted Long again this week at his Elgin home.

In the divorce action, Mrs. George contended that her husband "has become addicted to the use of certain drugs" and had developed "psychotic tendencies."

George played with the Bears from 1952 to 1965 and with the Rams in 1966. He works as a sports commentator for a Chicago television station.

L.B. State opens water polo season

The Long Beach State water polo team opens the season today when it competes in the two-day tournament at the University of California, Irvine.

The 49ers, ranked seventh in the nation, have 14 returning lettermen from the squad that had a 16-10 record in 1973.

Jr. grid tryouts

Tryouts are scheduled today at 10 a.m. at Hughes Junior High for the Downtown Lions Club flag football league. Players will be divided into teams in two divisions — fourth-fifth graders, and sixth-seventh graders.

President's son overdue in Selective Service sign-up

By DIANE HENRY

WASHINGTON — Like hundreds of other young men in the country, Steven Ford, the President's youngest son, has technically violated the law by failing to register with his local draft board on time.

This handsome, sandy-haired, 18-year-old did not register with the Selective Service until after his father became president. By law, he was required to report to his draft board not later than 30 days after his 18th birthday. Since he was born on May 19, 1956, he should have presented himself to the board before June 19, 1974.

Records at the local draft board here show that he reported on Aug. 30, 1974, more than two months after he was required to register.

The general Selective Service policy is not to prosecute a man who is two or three months late in registering, according to the general counsel for Selective Service, Peter Straub. However, he said that some men had been prosecuted for registering late.

Steven Ford, who is working on a ranch in Tremonton, Utah, was unavailable for comment. However, an aide to Helen Smith, the press spokesman for the family, said: "It really slipped his mind. It's nothing more than that. There were a lot of things going on with his father at that time."

The aide also said that when he did register, it was at his high school where he was graduated last June. "He was very apologetic, but they said, 'Don't worry, it happens all the time,'" the aide said.

Spokesmen in the President's press office, which is separate from the family's press office, did not return telephone calls on the matter.

Charles G. Bretz, the deputy director of the Selective Service Board in Washington, said that Steven had filed in Virginia, where he lived with his family before Ford took office.

A spokesman for the Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors, a group which monitors draft-law enforcement, said Friday it was "extremely rare" for the Selective Service to prosecute a man who is tardy in registering.

"We only prosecute men who have flagrantly violated the law," Straub said. He declined to define flagrant, quoting one Supreme Court justice as saying that "I can't define it but I know it when I see it."

However, in one case, Robert Clemmons was convicted

Many seen rejecting plan Queries on clemency grow

Associated Press

The number of calls for information about President Ford's clemency program for Vietnam era draft evaders and deserters is growing, officials say.

However, there are also indications those who left the country years ago to avoid prosecution may not be willing to give up their new lives abroad for conditional clemency.

Through Friday, there were 243 calls to the Justice Department. The department said it received calls on Friday from 21 draft dodgers, five deserters and 20 other persons who were just seeking information.

THE DEFENSE Department said it had a total of 569 queries about the program for deserters.

At Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., two Air Force deserters were released from prison on 30-day parole pending their entry into the clemency program, and 30 Marine deserters were being processed for parole.

Fourteen deserters were being processed at Ft. Harrison on Friday. The eligibility of six has yet to be determined, said Col. Leonard Reed, Defense Department spokesman for amnesty processing.

Three of the newest arrivals at Ft. Bragg, N.C. Two of the trio had been apprehended before implementation of the amnesty program. The third turned himself in.

Processing of Vietnam era deserters will switch from Ft. Harrison to Camp Atterbury, an old military post in south central Indiana, on Monday, and officials expect up to 150 a day to arrive.

The post, a former World War II and Korean War military training center, will serve as the primary military processing center for the deserters.

HOWEVER, a draft evader living in Canada says he feels most of his compatriots will be reluctant to discard their present well-being for two years of national service in the United States.

"I'm pretty sure the man on the street is not aware that most individual draft resisters are well established in the middle class," said David Jensen, 28, now of Winnipeg, Man. "It would be an impossible situation to chuck it all and go down to the U.S. in 90 days."

Jensen, formerly of Fargo, N.D., is a biology teacher who has been living in Canada for six years after avoiding induction.

George McKinney, formerly of Little Rock, Ark., went to Vancouver to avoid the draft and said in a telephone interview that he probably would not return home even if a blanket amnesty was declared.

Peter G. Hart, 26, who surrendered Friday to authorities in Buffalo, said his brother, Chris, 27, who is a deserter living in Toronto, probably would not return home.

"I STILL don't, and never will, consider my actions to be a crime. I still would never enter the military service or engage in warfare," said Hart.

John Hodgson, 27, surrendered Thursday after six years of evading the draft. Hodgson, who refused induction in 1968, surrendered to the U.S. attorney in San Francisco.

Hodgson said he has lived in constant fear of being caught.

"I've been paranoid to jailwalk," he said. "I haven't driven a car for five years because I knew I would get stopped."

Meanwhile, retired Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the captain of the spy ship Pueblo captured by North Korea in 1968 said that draft dodgers should be allowed to return without penalty.

"They should be permitted to pick up the traces and begin life anew," said Bucher, now a free lance writer. However, he said "blanket amnesty is not appropriate" for deserters.

In an article written for the San Diego Evening Tribune, he said he always opposed drafting men to fight in Vietnam.

Wilson's attorney, Rebecca A. Knittle, said the case raised the question of whether there is a double standard of justice for people such as her client and those of power, like Nixon.

"If you compare the situation of Nixon and Wilson in terms of mercy," she said, "Wilson stacks up quite well."

"Why should he be less deserving and less valuable than the high and mighty who have received lenient treatment for their offenses?" she argued.

In granting Wilson freedom, Lord said, "You've suffered enough."

Lord also expressed concern that draft violators were still being prosecuted after several U.S. leaders, including Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., had called the war a mistake.

Wilson failed to report for induction four years ago and fled to Canada. He spent six weeks in jail after being arrested in July when he crossed over into Minnesota from Canada.

Wilson pleaded guilty to the draft charge Aug. 16, before President Ford unveiled his amnesty program.

Court pardons evader after Nixon case cited

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A Minneapolis draft evader was pardoned after his lawyer successfully argued the "poor and weak" should be treated the same as the "rich and powerful," such as former President Richard Nixon.

U.S. District Court Judge Miles Lord Thursday allowed Gary L. Wilson, 30, to return to Devlin, Ont., where he had been living, with the promise of a full pardon after a year of unsupervised probation.

It was believed to be the first time an argument of inequality of justice with reference to Nixon's pardon had been used successfully in getting a draft evader freed.

Deserters in Sweden protest amnesty plan

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A group of American military deserters and draft dodgers called on U.S. Ambassador Robert Strauss-Hupe Friday to give him a letter informing the American government that President Ford's amnesty proposal was "inadequate and unsatisfactory."

Strauss-Hupe, recently appointed as ambassador to Sweden, refused to see the group of 11, which was accompanied by a woman carrying a baby, and instead the 550-word letter was read to John Owens, counselor for political affairs.

There were no incidents, and the group left
